Progress and Shortfalls in Europe's Defence The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS), 2025-09-03 European NATO members face the dual challenge of Russia s military threat and the United States expectations about significantly greater burden sharing or even burden shifting for Europe s defence Their commitment at The Hague Summit in June 2025 to invest 5% of GDP in defence expenditure annually by 2035 acknowledged the need to develop a more sovereign European defence capability and reduce critical dependencies This IISS Strategic Dossier assesses the progress that has been made in building up NATO European defence capability It analyses the critical hardware gaps of most European NATO allies relating to intelligence surveillance and reconnaissance assets long range strike systems and integrated air and missile defence The dossier examines European gaps in the software essential for modern military operations Although the significant dependence on US providers of hyperscale cloud computing capacity is unlikely to change soon efforts by European armed forces to address their software gaps have led to European companies developing significant expertise in edge cloud computing for advanced defence projects The volume discusses how European countries are looking to speed up procurement including through legislative changes Importantly the trend towards prioritising equipment purchases from domestic or European suppliers continues The dossier also assesses the prospects for European allies achieving NATO's new investment pledge This IISS Strategic Dossier was produced in the context of the IISS Prague Defence Summit PDS 2025 which has been supported by the government of the Czech Republic

The European Union's Geopolitics Mathias Jopp, Johannes Pollak, 2025-02-07 The book deals with the urgent need for the EU to position itself globally in the wake of Brexit a rapidly worsening climate crisis the COVID 19 pandemic an aggressive Russia and an ever more assertive China After 60 years of intensive navel gazing that focused on institutional design more than world politics the EU is now forced to defend its liberal democratic values which have come under attack from inside and outside the European integration project Moreover Realpolitik is back on the agenda Europe's content negligence of defense matters in the past few decades has been revealed by Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine

First Among Equals Emma Ashford, 2025-08-26 A fresh concise roadmap for U S grand strategy in a multipolar world For the past thirty years post Cold War triumphalism and a desire to reshape the world have defined U S foreign policy But the failures of the global war on terror the return of conflict to Europe and growing tensions with China all suggest that this approach to the world is flawed For the United States the country that has ruled the international system largely alone since 1991 this moment is particularly perilous Can policymakers adapt American foreign policy to better fit the twenty first century and in doing so avoid the pitfalls and excesses of the past three decades In this book Emma Ashford proposes a return to a more pragmatic realist set of strategic principles ones better suited for the emerging multipolar world that would pursue narrower U S interests cultivate the capabilities of friendly states and emphasize room for maneuver over rigid alliances In this she provides a valuable counterpoint to today's liberal internationalist consensus as well as a road map for policymakers who seek to change the course of U S foreign policy

Poland ,1929 Defending Europe: The military future of our continent European Liberal Forum, 2016-11-24 The essays in this compilation were originally presented at the ELF and LYMEC workshop Defending Europe The military future of our continent and the final versions in this compilation draw on discussions during the event It is worth noting that the workshop was organised the week before the Brussels attacks in March 2016 and even though the authors were given the possibility to finalise their papers after the event most participants chose to simply include the information and new insights gained during the event not in the aftermath of the attacks During the months that have passed since the event the discussion on a common European defence has gotten more attention and is now a common topic on the agenda in the European institutions This publication is therefore more timely than ever and will hopefully provide insight to how young liberals in Europe view the topic
