Delta Primer A Field Guide To The California Delta:

Delta Primer Jane Wolff, 2003 Growing worldwide interest in water systems makes this provocative examination of Northern California's Sacramento San Joaquin River Delta far more important than its regional focus suggests As author Wolff presents the story of the land and water through images historical data and an intricate mapping system Delta Primer frames public discussion about the transformation of the American landscape Making the Metropolitan Landscape Jacqueline Tatom, Jennifer Stauber, 2009-05-07 Bringing together for the first time many well known and emerging voices in urban design theory and practice this volume argues for a progressive and engaged design practice which fully relates to the complexity and diversity of American cities On Architecture and the Greenfield Charlotte Malterre-Barthes, 2024-12-04 In the face of the ongoing climate emergency can humanity keep chipping at its food sheds via urbanization This is the paradoxical question raised by residential forms of urbanization On the one hand housing settlements across the world devour thousands of hectares of arable fields at the periphery of growing cities On the other hand housing is a human right This publication investigates these complexities After On Architecture and Greenwashing 2024 it is the second volume in the series The Political Economy of Space and presents a cross section of positions on architecture and its political economies from different perspectives Redemptive Dreams Jason S. Sexton, 2023-11-10 An essential piece in California Studies Redemptive Dreams Engaging Kevin Starr's California offers the first critical engagement with the vision of California's most ambitious interpreter While Starr's multifaceted and polymathic vision of California offered a unique gaze synthesizing central features big themes and incredible problems with the propitious golden dream his eight volume California Dream series along with several other books and thousands of published articles and essays often puzzled historians and other scholars Historians in the contemporary school of critical historiography often found Starr's narrative approach seeking to tell the internal drama of the California story to be less attuned to the most important work happening in the field Such a perspective fails to acknowledge key developments in historical subfields like Black and African American Studies Chicana o x Studies Asian Studies Native Studies and others that draw from the narrative in their critical work and how this relates to Starr's contribution But it also neglects Starr as a theological interpreter Along with being a major figure in California institutional life with literary output spanning genres from journalism to critical cultural and political commentary to history and memoir Starr's unique contribution to California Studies as a distinctly Catholic historian has yet to be adequately understood Through his lived experience as a devout Catholic to the particular theological features of this faith tradition that animated his views this critical sociological perspective sheds new light on his project With contributions from sociology history and theology akin to investigations appearing in Theology and California Theological Refractions on California's Culture Routledge Redemptive Dreams offers interdisciplinary perspectives that highlight key features inherent in interdisciplinary theological reflection on place and illuminates these diverse disciplinary discourses as they appear in Starr's articulation of the California Dream. Such a vision remains important for reckoning with California's place in the world.

Spaces of Environmental Justice Ryan Holifield, Michael Porter, Gordon Walker, 2011-06-28. In this cutting edge volume leading scholars examine a diverse range of environmental inequalities from around the world. Shows how far the field has moved beyond its original focus on uneven distributions of pollution in the USA. Considers the influence of critical geographical and social theory on environmental justice studies. Examines a range of possibilities for future research directions. Explores the challenges of investigating and pursuing environmental justice at a time of rapid economic and environmental change. ArcCA, 2004. Architectural Record, 2001. New Orleans Under Reconstruction Carol M. Reese, Michael Sorkin, Anthony Fontenot, 2014-07-08. When the levees broke in August 2005 as a result of Hurricane Katrina 80 percent of the city of New Orleans was flooded with a loss of 134 000 homes and 986 lives. In particular the devastation hit the vulnerable communities the hardest the old the poor and the African American. The disaster exposed the hideous inequality of the city. In response to the disaster numerous plans designs and projects were proposed. This bold challenging and informed book gathers together the variety of responses from politicians writers architects and planners and searches for the answers of one of the most important issues of our age. How can we plan for the future creating a more robust and equal place. California Water Plan Update 2005: Regional reports, 2005. California Coast & Ocean, 2004.

Landscape and Agency Ed Wall, Tim Waterman, 2017-10-16. Landscape and Agency explores how landscape as an idea a visual medium and a design practice is organized appropriated and framed in the transformation of places from the local to the global. It highlights how the development of the idea of agency in landscape theory and practice can fundamentally change our engagement with future landscapes. Including a wide range of international contributions each illustrated chapter investigates the many ways in which the relationship between the ideas and practices of landscape and social and subjective formations and material processes are invested with agency. They critically examine the role of landscape in processes of contemporary urban development environmental debate and political agendas and explore how these relations can be analysed and rethought through a dialogue between theory and practice. Places, 2002. California Water Plan Update 2005: Strategic plan, 2005. The Parallax View Gerardo Corral Gambirazzio, 2009. Infrastructure as Site Laura Paisley Holmes Boutelle, 2005. Zyzyva, 2003. On the Changing Ground Kristine McKenzie Dykema, 2007.

Biomimetic and Biophilic Design as a Model for Regenerative Redevelopment of the Post-industrial San Francisco Bay Edge Mara Baum, 2005. Delta Primer Jane Wolff, 2003. Growing worldwide interest in water systems makes this provocative examination of Northern California's Sacramento San Joaquin River Delta far more important than its regional focus suggests. As author Wolff presents the story of the land and water through images historical data and an intricate mapping system Delta Primer frames public discussion about the transformation of the American landscape.
