The One-party State and Democracy Ibbo Mandaza, L. M. Sachikonye, 1991 Voting for Democracy Jonathan N. Moyo, 1992 Democracy in Zimbabwe Alfred G. Nhema, 2002 This book examines the dialectics of political liberalisation in Zimbabwe over time from the settler period to the late nineties The study takes in theoretical parameters for political and economic concepts and assumptions and provides a historical overview of settler rule civil society reactions and political developments 1945-1979 The author reveals stark historical continuities during this period He argues that the post independence state has sought like its settler predecessor to impose its hegemonic position by limiting the level of political space in which civil society could operate and that corporatist structures and policies have militated against the establishment of a fully fledged democratic society The final chapter which analyses structural adjustment liberalisation and the legacy of settler rule offers an assessment of the prospects of a lasting democratic process in Zimbabwe and likely obstacles Post-colonial struggles for a democratic Southern Africa Carolyn Bassett, Marlea Clarke, 2017-06-26 National liberation one of the grand narratives of the twentieth century has left a weighty legacy of unfulfilled dreams This book explores the ongoing struggle for legitimate accountable political leaders in postcolonial Southern Africa focussing on dilemmas arising when ex liberation movements form the governments While the spread of multi party democracy to most countries in the region is to be celebrated democratic practice often has been superficial a limited elitist politics that relies on the symbols of the liberation struggle to legitimate de facto one party rule and authoritarian practices Using country cases from Tanzania Swaziland Zimbabwe South Africa and Zambia the collection explores three subthemes relevant to postcolonial governance in Southern Africa how the struggle for liberation shapes the character of political transformation the nature of rule in one party dominant states headed by former liberation movements and the processes of governance and resistance in post liberation contexts This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary African Studies

Negotiating the Impasse C. K. Kabemba, Shumbana Karume, 2005

Civil Society and the Party-state in Zimbabwe Zenzo Moyo, 2024-08-21 The book utilises Gramsci's concepts of hegemony counter hegemony organic intellectuals and integral state to interrogate how modes of engagement between the state and civil society have contributed to a polarised polity in Zimbabwe and in turn how this has impacted democratisation processes This was achieved by analysing intra civil society interactions and state civil society relations which established deep polarised relationships that can be traced back to the liberation struggle It also interrogates ideologies that drive these polarised relations and how together with material benefits from donors and the party state these relations impact ordinary people's modes of existence One of the arguments that emerge from the book is that political polarisation in Zimbabwe has now morphed into an established political culture that has played a huge role in the retardation of democratic struggles It uses ideas of entangled modernities and travelling theory to cast doubt on the belief that civil society is the missing key in the democratisation of developing countries

Zimbabwe's Unfinished Business Amanda Hammar, Stig Jensen, Brian Raftopoulos, 2003 The dramatic changes in Zimbabwe's economic political and social landscapes since the 2000 elections referred to as the Zimbabwe crisis have raised complex critical questions at national regional and international levels This work addresses these points by focusing on the shifting discourses about and relationships between land state and citizenship It argues that these changing definitions and dynamics and their implications can best be understood in terms of a number of overlapping complete and incomplete projects of transformations or as unfinished business
