Demolish Darice Bailer, S.I. International (Firm), 2005 What looks like a big metal dinosaur and has sharp teeth that can tear down buildings Learn how this machine bites off parts of dangerous buildings and knocks them down Demolition Methods and Practice V1 Y. Kasai, 2023-06-09 This book contains papers presented at the Second International RILEM Symposium on Demolition and Reuse of Concrete and Masonry held in Tokyo Japan in November 1988 on various demolition techniques and practice as well as demolition machines of concrete structures Demolishing Detroit Nicholas L. Caverly, 2025-12-02 Innovative field work reveals how infrastructural systems buildings laws algorithms excavators regulations toxins maintain white supremacy within the urban landscape For decades Detroit residents politicians planners and advocacy organizations have campaigned for the elimination of empty buildings from city neighborhoods Leveling these structures many argue is essential to making space for Detroit's majority Black populace to flourish in the wake of white flight and deindustrialization In 2013 the city set out to demolish more than twenty thousand empty buildings by the end of the decade with administrators suggesting it would offer an innovative model for what other American cities could do to combat the effects of racist disinvestment Drawing on extensive ethnographic research with city residents demolition workers and public officials as well as analyses of administrative archives Demolishing Detroit examines the causes procedures and consequences of empty building demolitions in Detroit Contrary to stated goals of equity the book reveals how racism and intersecting inequities endured despite efforts to level them As calls to dismantle racist systems have become increasingly urgent this book provides cautionary tales of urban transformations meant to combat white supremacy that ultimately reinforced inequality Bridging political analyses of racial capitalism infrastructures and environments in cities Nick Caverly grapples with the reality that tearing down unjust policies ideologies and landscapes is not enough to end racist disparities in opportunities and life chances Doing so demands rebuilding systems in the service of reparative futures
