Aletha Adu

Political correspondent

Britain has agreed to commit to spending 5% of its GDP on defence by 2035 following weeks of military and diplomatic pressure, as Keir Starmer prepares to join Nato leaders at a summit dominated by global figures to unlock a higher spending ceiling, amid warnings that Britain risked falling behind its Nato peers.

No 10 is presenting the commitment as a signal of seriousness before a meeting with Nato leaders, including the US president, Donald Trump, in The Hague today. But some MPs are concerned that the timing of the announcement gives the UK less leverage at the summit.

Defence Of Britain:

In Defence of Britain's Middle Eastern Empire Timothy Paris, 2015-10-30 T E Lawrence of Arabia described his war time chief as the perfect leader a man who worked by influence rather than by loud direction He was like water or permeating oil creeping silently and insistently through everything It was not possible to say where Clayton was and was not and how much really belonged to him This is the first biography of General Sir Gilbert Clayton 1875 1929 Britain s pre eminent man on the spot during the formative years of the modern Middle East Serving as a soldier administrator and diplomat in ten different Middle Eastern countries during a 33 year Middle Eastern career Clayton is best known as the Director of British Intelligence in Cairo during the Great War 1914 16 and as the instigator and sponsor of the Arab Revolt against the Turks Dedicated to the preservation of Britain s Middle Eastern empire Clayton came to realize that in the transformed post war world Britain could ill afford to control all aspects of the emerging nation states in the region In his work as adviser to the Egyptian government 1919 22 he advocated internal autonomy for the Egyptians while asserting Britain s vital imperial interests in the country As chief administrator in Palestine 1923 5 he sought to reconcile the Arabs to Britain s national home policy for the Jews and at the same time to solidify Britain s position as Mandatory power In Arabia Clayton negotiated the first post war treaties with the emerging power of Ibn Saud 1925 1927 but curtailed his designs on the British Mandates in Iraq and Transjordan And in Iraq where Clayton served as High Commissioner 1929 he backed Iraq s independence within the framework of the British Empire

Great Britain, International Law, and the Evolution of Maritime Strategic Thought, 1856-1914 Gabriela A. Frei, 2020-04-16 Gabriela A Frei addresses the interaction between international maritime law and maritime strategy in a historical context arguing that both international law and maritime strategy are based on long term state interests Great Britain as the predominant sea power in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries shaped the relationship between international law and maritime strategy like no other power This study explores how Great Britain used international maritime law as an instrument of foreign policy to protect its strategic and economic interests and how maritime strategic thought evolved in parallel to the development of international legal norms Frei offers an analysis of British state practice as well as an examination of the efforts of the international community to codify international maritime law in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Great Britain as the predominant sea power as well as the world s largest carrier of goods had to balance its interests as both a belligerent and a neutral power With the growing importance of international law in international politics the volume examines the role of international lawyers strategists and government officials who shaped state practice Great Britain's neutrality for most of the period between 1856 and 1914 influenced its state practice and its perceptions of a future maritime conflict Yet the codification of international maritime law at the Hague and London conferences at the beginning of the twentieth century demanded a reassessment of Great Britain's legal position
