Foucault, Crime and Power Christian Borch,2014-11-13 This book presents a Foucauldian problematisation analysis of crime with a particular focus on the twentieth century It considers how crime has been conceived as problem and by scrutinising the responses that have been adapted to deal with crime demonstrates how a range of power modalities have evolved throughout the twentieth century Christian Borch shows how the tendency of criminologists to focus on either disciplinary power or governmentality has neglected the broader complex of Foucault s concerns ignoring its historical underpinnings whilst for the most part limiting studies to only very recent developments without giving sufficient attention to their historical backdrop The book uses developments in Denmark developments that can be readily identified in most other western countries as a paradigmatic case for understanding how crime has been problematised in the West Thus Foucault Crime and Power Problematisations of Crime in the Twentieth Century demonstrates that a Foucauldian approach to crime holds greater analytical potentials for criminological research than have so far been recognized The Reception of Darwinism in the Iberian World T.F Glick,Miguel Angel Puig-Samper,R. Ruiz,2001-10-31 I Twenty five years ago at the

Conference on the Comparative Reception of Darwinism held at the University of Texas in 1972 only two countries of the Iberian world Spain and Mexico were represented At the time it was apparent that the topic had attracted interest only as regarded the mainstream science countries of Western Europe plus the United States The Eurocentric bias of professional history of science was a fact The sea change that subsequently occurred in the historiography of science makes 1972 appear something like the antediluvian era Still we would like to think that that meeting was prescient in looking beyond the mainstream science countries as then perceived in order to test the variation that ideas undergo as they pass from center to periphery One thing that the comparative study of the reception of ideas makes abundantly clear however is the weakness of the center periphery dichotomy from the perspective of the diffusion of scientific ideas Catholics in mainstream countries for example did not handle evolution much better than did their coreligionaries on the fringes Conversely Darwinians in Latin America were frequently better placed to advance Darwin's ideas in a social and political sense than were their fellow evolutionists on the Continent The Texas meeting was also a marker in the comparative reception of scientific ideas Darwinism aside Although by 1972 scientific institutions had been studied comparatively there was no antecedent for the comparative history of scientific ideas
