Bone Deep in Landscape, 1999      Writing Together, Writing Apart Linda K. Karell, 2002-01-01 In this study of collaborative writing in western American literature Linda K Karell asks broad and fruitful questions about how writing in general is produced By examining collaboration both as a process and as a product she challenges the definition of an author as an individual genius who creates original works of art in isolation From a collaborative view what was a fairly direct cause and effect scenario individual author inspiration original literary masterpiece becomes something much less clear An individual is always located within a shifting context of texts from which he or she draws to produce often with substantial and varied support from other writers editors spouses or partners and institutions a work that will be termed original Collaboration insists on recognizing this oft hidden contribution of others as an important component of meaning something our traditional understanding of the author persists in ignoring or displacing Karell provides a close analysis of the various means by which writers work with others to produce their final literary products Methods include traditional joint writing practices such as ghostwriting or edited texts as in the case of Mourning Dove and ethnographer Lucullus McWhorter the incorporation of existing diaries or letters from other writers for example Wallace Stegner's Angle of Repose with Mary Hallock Foote and dual authored texts such as those produced by Louise Erdrich and Michael Dorris By challenging the seductive myth of the solitary writer within the context of the myth of the independent westerner Karell makes the compelling argument that collaboration is an inescapable part of writing      All Our Stories Are Here Brady Harrison, 2009-01-01 This wide ranging collection of essays addresses a diverse and expanded vision of Montana literature offering new readings of both canonical and overlooked texts Although a handful of Montana writers such as Richard Hugo A B Guthrie Jr D Arcy McNickle and James Welch have received considerable critical attention sizable gaps remain in the analysis of the state's ever growing and ever evolving canon The twelve essays in All Our Stories Are Here not only build on the exemplary foundational work of other writers but also open further interpretative and critical conversations Expanding on the critical paradigms of the past and bringing to bear some of the latest developments in literary and cultural studies the contributors engage issues such as queer ambivalence in Montana writing representations of the state in popular romances and the importance of the University of Montana's creative writing program in fostering the state's literary corpus The contributors also explore the work of writers who have not yet received their critical due take new looks at old friends and offer some of the first explorations of recent works by well established artists All Our Stories Are Here conveys a sense of continuity in the field of Western literary criticism while at the same time challenging conventional approaches to regional literature      Fifty Years After The Big Sky William E.
