success The basic information and ideas expressed by Levy can be used to improve the effectiveness of any framework through which adolescents pass during the stages of development including schools community centers and normal families Some of the main topics discussed in this volume are principles for running a multicultural facility organization of the daily life of a large residential setting major parameters in a residential setting as derived from the theories of Erik Erikson on adolescence as a developmental stage comprehensive care for youth in transition and adolescents suffering from aggravated identity crises All child and youth care workers and program administrators can learn much from Levy s account of Hadassim Negotiating Positive Identity in a Residential Group Care Community will be disturbing to many who adhere to the current tenets of good management and child care practice readers need to be prepared to have many assumptions and beliefs challenged The book emphasizes the distress of immigrant and troubled urban youth as an aggravated identity crisis the cause of which needs to be treated before the symptom This volume is of interest to theoreticians practitioners and policymakers in the fields of education child and youth care and developmental psychology as well as scholars in Erikson s theories It is also useful in courses which study education in Israel or that seek solutions to problems such as homeless youth in the Third World Negotiating Positive Identity in a Residential Group Care Community stresses that The answer to deprivation is not the provision of efficient services but an environment and an approach that encourages adolescents to see themselves as active participants and not as patients or passive inmates Residential settings for children and adolescents can successfully handle large numbers and in fact larger numbers can offer some definite advantages The best way to help children develop into autonomous adults is to give them responsibility for their own choices within the framework of a goal oriented community
