Adult Development Therapy And Culture A Postmodern Synthesis:

Adult Development, Therapy, and Culture Gerald D. Young, 2013-06-29 This volume proposes a theoretical integration of several major streams in contemporary psychological theory about adult development and therapy. It adopts the perspective that there are steps in development throughout the adult period and that they are characterized by a union of the cognitive and affective the self and the other and idea with idea in second order collective abstractions. That is they are at once postformal in terms of Piaget's theory, sociocultural in terms of Vygotsky's theory and postmodern with the latter perspective providing an integrating theme. The affirmative, multivoiced, contextual, relational, other sensitive side of postmodernism is emphasized. Levinas's philosophy of responsibility for the other is seen as congruent with this ethos. The neopiagetian model of development on which the current approach is based proposes that the last stage in development concerns collective intelligence or postmodern postformal thought. Kegan (1994) has attempted independently to describe adult development from the same perspective. His work on the development of the postmodern mind of the adult is groundbreaking and impressive in its depth. However, I analyze the limitations as well as the contributions of his approach, underscoring the advantages of my particular model.

Handbook of Adult Development Jack Demick, Carrie Andreoletti, 2003-01-31 The Handbook of Adult Development is an overview of the major theories and research in the field. Included are sections on introductory theory and method, biocognitive development in adulthood and social development in adulthood, in addition to an introduction and epilogue by the editors. This content will be useful for years to come. By soliciting contributions from current leading theoreticians and researchers in the field of adult development, the volume will present state-of-the-art theory and research on this burgeoning subfield of developmental psychology. Professionals, clinicians, researchers, and academics in the larger field of development psychology will find the book an invaluable resource, as will graduate students in the same field. The Development of Logic in Adulthood Jan D. Sinnott, 2013-03-09 In this book, Jan D. Sinnott synthesizes her 20 years of research on lifespan cognitive development to describe the growth of complex or postformal thought in adults. She shows specifically how adults improve mentally over a lifetime and learn to think in more complex and wiser ways. Applications of postformal thought are demonstrated in such diverse areas as family relations, adult education, personal identity, and spirituality. Chapters examine relations between postformal thought and pertinent variables such as age, health, memory, and vocabulary. Other sections deal with issues in humanistic psychology such as guided imagery, mind-body medicine, and creative intentionality.

Human Development in Adulthood Lewis R. Aiken, 2005-12-21 Human Development in Adulthood is a comprehensive multidisciplinary overview of adult development in a number of areas, both personal and societal, from mental and physical health to economic and social conditions. Variables including race, gender, economic status, and political and religious affiliation are considered in the discussion of such human issues as love and marital relations, economic concerns including employment and living conditions, violence in its various forms including crime and war, aging, and death The numerous illustrations chapter summaries and glossary will prove especially useful to students Causality and Neo-Stages in Development Gerald Young,2021-10-30 This book represents a broad integration of several major themes in psychology toward its unification Unifying psychology is an ongoing project that has no end point but the present work suggests several major axes toward that end including causality and activation inhibition coordination On the development side of the model building the author has constructed an integrated lifespan stage model of development across the Piagetian cognitive and the Eriksonian socioaffective domains The model is based on the concept of neo stages which mitigates standard criticisms of developmental stage models The new work in the second half of the book extends the primary work in the first half both in terms of causality and development Also the area of couple work is examined from the stage perspective Finally new concepts related to the main themes are represented including on the science formula executive function stress dysregulation disorder inner peace and ethics all toward showing the rich potential of the present modeling Psychology of the Consumer and Its Development Robert C. Webb,2012-12-06 An unusually understandable survey of the forces or perception and feeling that determine the purchases we make the roles played by fashion fads and status and the psychological needs that they fulfill The book discusses how children become consumers and how they change as they age Research based throughout it shows how ads use classical conditioning harnessing psychological motivation to create image and sell products Development and Causality Gerald Young,2011-06-24 This book sets forth a new model of development from a causal perspective As this is an area vital to several disciplines It has been written at multiple levels and for multiple audiences It is based on the work of Piaget and Neo Piagetians but also covers other major models in development It has elements that make it attractive as a teaching text but it is especially research focused It has clinical applications It presents many new ideas and models consistent with the existing literature which is reviewed extensively Students researchers and practitioners should find it useful The models presented in the present work build on models introduced in prior publications e g Young 1990a 1990b 1997 The Behavior Therapist ,1997 The Career Counseling Casebook Spencer G.
