At the Surface...

Pressure = 1 atm

A slow return to the surface lets the nitrogen return to the lungs where it is breathed out

At 60 ft (18m)

Pressure = 2.8 atm

Nitrogen moves from high pressure in the lungs into the blood (low pressure)

Swimming up too quickly does not give the Nitrogen enough time to leave the blood. Instead it forms bubbles which lead to DCS

UnderWater ,1997 The Underwater Handbook Charles Shilling,2013-11-11 This handbook attempts to translate data on various parameters of man's capability in underwater and hyperbaric environments for those without a background in the life sciences Accomplishing any multifaceted task requires team work and effective team work depends on facile communication among all participants To communicate properly all parties must understand each other's problems and be able to speak a similar language To this end we believe that this publication will go a long way in furthering the understanding and communication necessary for maximum achievement The U S Navy has a fundamental interest in all types of activities connected with the ocean and is especially interested in the growing field of manned underwater and hyperbaric activities Thus the manuscript for this comprehensive book was developed under Office of Naval Research contract N00014 67 A 0214 0013 with The George Washington University We acknowledge with appreciation the financial support and technical guidance for this undertaking by the Naval Medical Research and Development Command of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery as well as by the Engineering Psychology Program and the Physiology Program of the Office of Naval Research JOSEPH P POLLARD Director Biological and Medical Sciences Division Office of Naval Research vii Preface A need was felt for a book that would document the relationship of the human being to the underwater hyperbaric environment in such a way that the individual unfamiliar with the psychological or biomedical jargon could still understand and appreciate the information USS Monitor John D. Rudell, 2009-07 Details about many of the divers that I evaluated are included with comments on the way their dives got them into trouble and the chamber at City Island NAHC I discuss their treatment profiles and the results of their treatment It presents a larger series of bent divers than any I am aware of Should you find another comparable series contact me at avoidaccidents ymail com Ideas about bends have changed from the concept that a bubble formed in the nervous system because of a rapid ascent or the joint by cavitation negative pressure Rapid ascent or joint motion caused the culprit to appear and pressure would make the bubble go away Now we are focused on treating tissue damage with oxygen But we are still using pressure and oxygen to increase the partial pressure of oxygen in the affected tissue The treatment of choice is the 5 hour long U S Navy Treatment Table 6 which washes out the nitrogen in the tissue and washes in the oxygen Careful understanding of how my patients got bent and how they responded should make any diver more cautious regarding repetitive diving and a multi day series of dives Pressure at the deepest part of the dive washes in the nitrogen over time Fatty tissue that includes the central nervous system and peripheral nerves absorbs more nitrogen than watery tissues such as muscle Shaping up to dive includes weight loss abstinence during the duration of the series of dives and improving lung function Physical conditioning prevents tachycardia a rapid heart beat during exertion A program of regular exercise two or three times a week prevents early fatigue during prolonged exertion or increases stamina Exercise such as walking 20 or more minutes a day for several weeks before diving is as important as paying for the trip Swimming accustoms one to buoyancy relaxing in the water and adjusting temperature regulating reflexes such as vaso constriction in the skin on immersion Dive accidents sometimes do not have a treatable solution Most accidents resolve after one re compression breathing oxygen under pressure Many patients were treated multiple times and some did not get complete relief of their symptoms and or neurological findings Immediate therapy traditionally is in water re compression which has its drawbacks It is difficult to administer and hypothermia fatigue and drowning are risks Surface On

Deck oxygen breathing from a face mask or immediate re compression in a chamber are always effective treatments Transport to a facility has logistical problems and the destination chamber may not be functional when it is needed The U S Navy Diving Manual Rev 6 Vol 5 20 4 4 2 1 has procedures for In Water Re compression using AIR 20 4 4 2 2 In Water Re compression Using Oxygen Both sections advise going to 30 fsw and additional instructions for decompressing If oxygen is used and the decompression has been completed then 3 hours of oxygen breathing is the procedure One cylinder of oxygen and a face mask are good for one diver for 3 hours Where are the other cylinders for other divers The book is about the chamber that I personally operated and staffed I was almost continually available The number of bent divers that I treated not all are included in the book because they were routine speaks for itself AAA Avoid An Accident Plan Safe Dives A Simple Guide to Decompression Illness Lee Griffiths,Klaus Torp,John Lippmann,2008 This book enables divers to have a thorough understanding of some of the medical problems and illnesses associated with diving After reading this book you will be able to fully recognize each of the individual conditions and have a clear understanding of the best action to take in the event of decompression illness Publisher s website Between the Devil and the Deep Mark Cowan,Martin Robson,2021-07-22 Deep underwater lurks a mysterious man made illness It has gone by many names over the years Satan s disease diver s palsy the chokes but today medics call it decompression sickness You know it as the bends In the winter of 2012 British diver Martin Robson joined an expedition to southern Russia which sought to find a submerged cave system never seen by the human eye On their final day as Robson attempted to surface after reaching a record depth in the Blue Lake disaster struck just seventy five feet down he was ambushed by the bends Forced to gamble on an underwater practice most doctors believe is a suicidal act he sank back into the water Soon his only hope for survival was a dramatic mercy mission organised at the highest levels of the Russian government Between the Devil and the Deep is the first book to tell the terrifying true story of what it feels like to get the bends taking you inside the body and mind of a man who suffered the unthinkable Writer Mark Cowan also explores the fascinating history of decompression sickness the science behind what causes the disease and the stories of the forgotten divers who pushed the limits of physical endurance to help find a solution
