CASE STUDY

ISSUE

An inadequate number of high-speed charging stations in key urban areas led to extended downtime for our EV logistics fleet.

Inefficient route planning for EV logistics led to increased energy consumption and reduced delivery capacity.

Lack of real-time tracking and management of the EV fleet hindered operational transparency and responsiveness.

IMPACT

This limitation led to a 20% decrease in delivery speed and efficiency, resulting in a noticeable dip in customer satisfaction.

The inefficient routing caused a 15% increase in energy usage and a 10% reduction in daily delivery volume.

This gap led to challenges in fleet management, including delayed responses to maintenance needs and underutilization of vehicles.

SOLUTION

Positive Charge installed advanced, rapid-charging stations at strategic urban locations, significantly reducing charging time and fleet downtime.

We implemented a dynamic route optimization software, integrating real-time traffic and vehicle charge data, thereby optimizing routes for energy efficiency and delivery speed.

We developed and integrated a comprehensive fleet management system, including real-time tracking, predictive maintenance alerts, and utilization analysis.

and managers square the circle of increasing demand and expectations for the delivery and quality of services against a backdrop of reduced public funding from government and philanthropists. Leaders, executives and managers are increasingly focusing on service operations improvement. In terms of research, public services are immature within the discipline of operations management and existing knowledge is limited to government departments and large bureaucratic institutions. Drawing on a range of theory and frameworks, this book develops the research agenda and knowledge and understanding in public service operations management, addressing the most pressing dilemmas faced by leaders, executives and operations managers in the public services environment. It offers a new empirical analysis of the impact of contextual factors including the migration of planning systems founded on MRP, ERP and the adoption of industrial based improvement practices such as TQM, lean thinking and Six Sigma. This will be of interest to researchers, educators and advanced students in public management, service operations management, health service management and public policy studies.
