Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle, Stephanus Schmitz, 2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization. What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost. This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South. Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities? How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world? And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources? These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil, Mexico, Egypt, India, and Singapore.

Material Precedent G. P. Borden, 2010-03-22. A comprehensive, richly illustrated catalog focusing on materials used in great twentieth-century architecture. Viewed primarily in technical terms, pertaining to construction material, has often been overlooked in the discourse on architectural design. Yet it is material that breathes life into architecture by realizing concepts into meaningful physical forms. Whether it is wood, glass, steel, plastic, or concrete, material can be employed with unlimited flexibility and carries both visual and emotional characteristics through its expression. The first book of its kind to focus on materiality from a design perspective, Material Precedent is masterfully presented with an impressive collection of crisp line drawings, along with historical material, tectonic, and typological analysis of twentieth-century buildings, providing readers with detailed instruction that traces the traditions and trends of material as the defining premise in the making of architecture. This unrivaled text is illustrated throughout with detailed line drawings. Is perfect for use in a design studio or simply for understanding the role of materials in buildings for a designer of any level. Includes a companion Web site. By cataloging and comparing the concepts behind modern building science using architectural precedent, Material Precedent examines structure, form, effect, detail, sustainability, and performance through material application to provide a comprehensive analysis of the materiality of architecture.

Barragán Guide Federica Zanco, Ilaria Valente, 2002. The Barragán Guide presents architect Luis Barragán's constructed works to a larger public, providing keys to his creative evolution and his cultural context. Following the volume's itinerary through three Mexican cities: Guadalajara, Mexico City, and Monterrey, provides not only a chronological survey of Barragán's surviving work but also an interesting experience of three urban realities that constitute the basis of his architectural practice and the context of the work of his followers. Born and raised in the provincial town of Guadalajara, Barragán performed his first experiments there before moving to the more open and fertile creative environment of the capital, where rapidly growing new neighborhoods provided a wealth of opportunities for an ambitious young architect. It was on the outskirts of Mexico City that Barragán's vision of a new way of living, at once modern and Mexican, took shape in the late 1940s in the form of a sophisticated residential development known as Jardines del Pedregal The project won international acclaim and Barragán moved on to create a series of masterpieces his own house the houses built for the Prieto Lopez and Galvez families the monument known as Satellite Towers and the outstanding residential developments of Las Arboledas and Los Clubes are but a few examples of his singular way of dealing with nature and architecture as two key elements of the intimate relation between inside and outside between constructed and non constructed environments
