Case Of California:

The Case of California Laurence A. Rickels, 2026-01-20 Focusing on the changing image of the West Coast through such varied social and cultural artifacts as bodybuilding group therapy suicide cults Marilyn Monroe milk carton images of missing children orgies Mickey Mouse zombies teenage slang shock therapy and surf music The Case of California offers a dizzying psycho history of the twentieth century as crystallized in the symbolic configuration and case of California which case is articulated in relation to German modernism National Socialism and Freudian psychoanalysis As Laurence Rickels writes on the personalizable level or label California is a death cult on the social outward happy face level it distributes pleasure via sadomasochism the adolescent group or friendship Ultimately The Case of California excavates the places California occupies as concept or placeholder within Freudian psychoanalysis and such systems as the Frankfurt School East Coast psychoanalysis and deconstruction To excavate the full range of California one must apply pressure to a series of adjacent and often equally marginal or missing concepts including group and adolescent psychology female sexuality the haunting of music and of mass media at large the charge of child abuse and a certain convergence of religious and hysterical conversion

Fruehwald, 2001-03-30 This study proposes a multilateralist method of choice of law in order to alleviate the great disarray that currently exists in American choice law In the early 20th century there was a fairly uniform multilateralist method of choice law In the 1920s and 30s however scholars and courts began to reject this method Viewed as too mechanical the method sometimes resulted in the choice of law of a state with only a tenuous connection to the controversy Currently state courts use four different approaches to choice law with numerous material variations This study rejects these approaches on normative constitutional and practical grounds Instead it advocates that courts adopt a multilateralist approach to choice of law that is forum and content neutral and that respects the rights of both individuals and states The study also argues that such an approach should satisfy a constitutional standard that requires a court not choose one state's law when another state has a significantly closer connection to controversy The proposed method consists of two parts The first part determines the states that have created legal relations applying to the dispute When more than one state has created a legal relation applying to the dispute When more than one state has created a legal relation that applies to the controversy the second part adopts the law of the state that had the closest connection The study then applies the suggested
