

After Auschwitz

Anger,
as black as a book,
overtakes me.
Each day,
each Nazi took, at 8:00 A.M., a baby and sauteed him for breakfast in his frying pan.

And death looks on with a casual eye and picks at the dirt under his fingernail.

Man is evil,
I say aloud.
Man is a flower
that should be burnt,
I say aloud.
Man
is a bird full of mud,
I say aloud.

Man with his small pink toes,
with his miraculous fingers is not a temple
but an outhouse,
I say aloud.
Let man never again raise his teacup,
Let man never again write a book, Let man never again put on his shoe,
Let man never again raise his eyes,
on a soft July night.
Never. Never. Never. Never. Never.
I say those things aloud.

I beg the Lord not to hear.

Anne Sexton

The Auschwitz Poems Jarosław Mensfeld,1999      Erika, Poems of the Holocaust William Heyen,1991      Re-imagining Language and Literature for the 21st Century ,2005-01-01 In 28 essays selected from the proceedings of the XXII International Congress of FILLM held at Assumption University Bangkok scholars and teachers of languages and literatures have noted bemoaned and analyzed the waning influence of the humanities to varying degrees They have raised questions offered solutions and vigorously defended their languages and literatures often in no uncertain terms not as a politically correct thing to do but as a human obligation The papers presented here are true to the spirit of the Congress from the moment of the keynote address to what followed in a spontaneous outbreak of voices from scholars of more than 70 universities throughout the world For the first time in an international congress scholars have described with great sensitivity many languages and literatures often considered the periphery in a sincere attempt to understand the other thus making a passionate plea for inclusion in the umbrella of the world s languages and literatures With contributions by keynote speaker and authority on Comparative Literature Gayatri Spivak USA and plenary speakers Vridhagiri Ganeshan India Roger Sell Finland Antoine Compagnon France and Chetana Nagavajara Thailand this volume is of immense interest to scholars and teachers of languages and literatures the world over      Adorno and Literature David Cunningham,Nigel Mapp,2006-06-08 Despite the recent upsurge of interest in Theodor Adorno s work his literary writings are generally under represented However literature is a central element in his aesthetic theory Bringing together original essays from a distinguished international group of contributors this book offers a wide ranging account of the literary components of Adorno s thinking It is divided into three sections dealing with the concept of literature with poetry and with modernity and the novel respectively At the same time the book provides a clear sense of the unique qualities of Adorno s philosophy of literature by critically relating his work to a number of other influential theorists and theories including contemporary postmodernist theory and cultural studies      International Who's Who in Poetry 2005 Europa Publications,2004 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets      International Who's Who in Poetry 2004 Europa Publications,2003 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets      Re-examining the Holocaust through Literature Aukje Kluge,Benn E. Williams,2009-03-26 In the late 1980s Holocaust literature emerged as a provocative but poorly defined scholarly field The essays in this volume reflect the increasingly international and pluridisciplinary nature of this scholarship and the widening of the definition of Holocaust literature to include comic books fiction film and poetry as well as the more traditional diaries memoirs and journals Ten contributors from four countries engage issues of authenticity evangelicalism morality representation personal experience and wish fulfillment in Holocaust literature which have been the subject of controversies in the US Europe and the Middle East Of interest to students and instructors of antisemitism national and comparative literatures theater film history literary criticism religion and Holocaust studies this book also contains an extensive bibliography with references in over twenty languages which seeks to inspire further research in an international context

Traumatic Verses Andrés José Nader, 2007 Traumatic Verses provides psychoanalytically informed close readings of a range of poems and discusses their significance for aesthetic theory and for research on the camps. It also tells the stories behind the composition and preservation of these poems and the history of their publication since 1945. Most of the poems appear here for the first time in English translation along with the original texts. This book fills a gap left by literary historians who have mostly ignored writings from the camps and avoided careful scrutiny of literature produced under the Nazi regime. Studies of trauma have concentrated on post-traumatic experiences; discussions of aesthetics after the Holocaust have neglected the issue of the artistic impulse in the camps. On both counts, this book constitutes a unique contribution to scholarship, showing that when read attentively, the poems written in the camps are invaluable sites for confronting the Nazi past. book jacket

German Poetry in Transition, 1945-1990 Charlotte Melin, 1999 An ambitious bilingual anthology of postwar German poetry

Marked Stephen Herz, 2014 Poetry Jewish Studies In MARKED Stephen Herz's poems of the Holocaust we see through a prism of linked poems: the unfolding horror, terror, and despair of this dehumanizing, bloody time of cruelty, evil, and death. Here are poems infused with the Third Reich's virulent anti-Semitic slogans, proclamations, and hate-filled speeches calling for the death of the enemy, the Jews. Here is the Yellow Star marking all Jews for the round-ups, the ghettos, the mass shootings, and the death trains. From the burning of the books to the burning of the bodies, here is history distilled. One can hear the voices of the bystanders wishing the Jews good riddance. Voices of Einsatzgruppen, the mobile killing squads. Voices from the Sonderkommandos in the gas chambers of Auschwitz. Voices crying out for help from an indifferent America, an indifferent world. And here are the shots, shots, shots echoing through the poems, echoing through time. Today, some seventy years after the Holocaust, we still can't understand. But the author hopes this collection of Holocaust poems will help us to remember, help us to keep the Holocaust alive, to keep it from falling into mythology.

Holocaust Poetry Hilda Schiff, 1995-04-15 Holocaust Poetry is a lasting and solemn tribute to the memory of the past and to the hope of the future. Behold, God of Abraham, God of mercy, Open your eyes as you have opened mine. Open your eyes and see what I have seen. Elie Wiesel: She felt a kind of envy for those who stood naked in their truth. Where to be one of her people was to be one of those millions killed. Stephen Spender: And death looks on with a casual eye and picks at the dirt under his fingernail. Anne Sexton: Consider whether this is a man who labors in the mud, who knows no peace, who fights for a crust of bread, who dies at a yes or a no. Primo Levi: The volume includes 119 poems and the voices of 59 poets.
