The Year's Best Australian Science Fiction and Fantasy Bill Congreve, Michelle Marquardt, 2005-06-01 Science fiction looks into the future or at what could exist given what the human race knows or can imagine about the universe or it looks at different versions of our past and present Horror looks at the supernatural or at particularly disturbing versions of what can exist given the perversions of human nature Fantasy looks at worlds or subject matter which can't exist which we acknowledge as impossible All are literature of ideas with Australian writers drawing on the vast often unforgiving landscape we live in the multi-cultural nature of the society around us and the lessons we're trying to learn from our history The best stories provoke, inspire and entertain The best stories

The Year's Best Australian Science Fiction and Fantasy The Year's Best Australian Science Fiction and Fantasy Jonathan Strahan, Jeremy G. Byrne, 1998

The Year's Best Australian Science Fiction and Fantasy Jonathan Strahan, Jeremy G. Byrne, 1998 Beyond the Orbit: Australian Science Fiction to 1935 Ernest Favenc, Watson H. B. Marriott, 2019-01-14 The history of early Australian science fiction has been well chronicled by literary historians In searching for a synthesis of colonial Australian science fiction they generally identify three genres into which most Australian science fiction of the period can be placed lost civilisation novels including Lemurian and utopian novels historical fantasies which re-imagined Australia's colonial past particularly the history of Australian exploration and future invasion or future political novels which dramatized fears of racial invasion or social chaos resulting from political upheaval or natural disasters like plague In the short form early Australian science fiction is more heterogeneous There were more outlets for the short form and more short stories were published so we would expect a wider range of themes and subject matter and indeed this is the case The stories collected here indicate something of the richness and variety of science fiction written by Australian authors up to the mid 1930s We see some of the themes mentioned above for example the lost civilisation story Phil Collas's The Inner Domain and the future invasion story Ernest Favenc's What the Rats Brought but they offer something new and original while other stories are built on the consequences of technological discoveries or advancements for example Ernest Favenc's The Land of the Unseen H B Marriott Watson's The Instrument and Beatrice Grimshaw's Lost Wings

Australian Science Fiction Van Ikin, 1984 Metaworlds Paul Collins, 1994 Collection of the most popular short stories written by Australian science fiction authors The stories chosen by computer on the basis of reader polls share themes including birth, rebirth and transmutation Story authors include George Turner Damien Broderick Rosaleen Love Terry Dowling Greg Egan Jack Wodhams Stephen Dedman Leanne Frahm David Lake and Dirk Strasser The editor is author of Hot Lead Cold Sweat

Australian Genre Film Kelly McWilliam, Mark David Ryan, 2021-04-26 Australian Genre Film interrogates key genres at the core of Australia's so-called new golden age of genre cinema establishing the foundation on which more sustained research on film genre in Australian cinema can develop The book examines what characterises Australian cinema and its output in this new golden age as contributors ask to what extent

Australian genre film draws on widely understood and largely Hollywood based conventions as compared to culturally specific conventions of genre storytelling As such this book offers a comprehensive and up to date survey of Australian genre film undertaken through original analyses of 13 significant Australian genres action biopics comedy crime horror musical road movie romance science fiction teen thriller war and the Western This book will be a cornerstone work for the burgeoning field of Australian film genre studies and a must read for academics researchers undergraduate students postgraduate students and general readers interested in film studies media studies cultural studies Australian studies and sociology
