Autobiographical Jews:

Autobiographical Jews Michael Stanislawski, 2012-09-20 Autobiographical Jews examines the nature of autobiographical writing by Jews from antiquity to the present and the ways in which such writings can legitimately be used as sources for Jewish history Drawing on current literary theory which questions the very nature of autobiographical writing and its relationship to what we normally designate as the truth and to a lesser extent the new cognitive neurosciences Michael Stanislawski analyzes a number of crucial and complex autobiographical texts written by Jews through the ages Stanislawski considers The Life by first century historian Josephus compares the early modern autobiographies of Asher of Reichshofen Book of Memories and Glikl of Hameln Memoirs analyzes the radically different autobiographies of two Russian Jewish writers the Hebrew Enlightenment author Moshe Leib Lilienblum and the famous Russian poet Osip Mandelstam and looks at two autobiographies written out of utter despair in the midst and in the wake of World War II Stefan Zweig s The World of Yesterday and Sarah Kofman s Rue Ordener Rue Labat These writers attempts to portray their private and public struggles anxieties successes and failures are expressions of a basic drive for selfhood which is both timeless and time bound universal and culturally specific The challenge is to attempt to unravel the conscious from the unconscious distortions in these texts and to regard them as artifacts of individuals quests to make sense of their lives first and foremost for themselves and then if possible for their readers Being For Myself Alone Marcus Moseley, 2005-06-13 This is a work of unprecedented scope tracing the origins of Jewish autobiographical writing from the early modern period to the early twentieth century Drawing on a multitude of Hebrew and Yiddish texts very few of which have been translated into English and on contemporary autobiographical theory this book provides a literary historical explanatory paradigm for the emergence of the Jewish autobiographical voice The book also provides the English reader with an introduction to the works of central figures in the history of Hebrew and Yiddish literature and it includes discussion of material that has never been submitted to literary critical analysis in English The Jewish Body Maria Diemling, Giuseppe Veltri, 2009 This volume explores perceptions of the Jewish body in variety of early modern Jewish sources It discusses among other topics ideas of the ideal body in normative sources the influence of Kabbalistic ideas on Jewish Christian discourse and the link between melancholy and exile A Jewish Life on Three Continents , 2013-05-08 This remarkable memoir by Menachem Mendel Frieden illuminates Jewish experience in all three of the most significant centers of Jewish life during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries It chronicles Frieden s early years in Eastern Europe his subsequent migration to the United States and finally his settlement in Palestine in 1921 The memoir appears here translated from its original Hebrew edited and annotated by Frieden s grandson the historian Lee Shai Weissbach Frieden s story provides a window onto Jewish life in an era that saw the encroachment of modern ideas into a traditional society great streams of migration and the project of Jewish nation building in Palestine The memoir follows Frieden s student life in the yeshivas of Eastern Europe the practices of

Burdens of Proof Susanna Egan,2011-04-20 Autobiographical impostures once they come to light appear to us as outrageous scandalous They confuse lived and textual identity the person in the world and the character in the text and call into question what we believe what we doubt and how we receive information In the process they tell us a lot about cultural norms and anxieties Burdens of Proof Faith Doubt and Identity in Autobiography examines a broad range of impostures in the United States Canada and Europe and asks about each one Why this particular imposture Why here and now Susanna Egan s historical survey of texts from early Christendom to the nineteenth century provides an understanding of the author in relation to the text and shows how plagiarism and other false claims have not always been regarded as the frauds we consider them today She then explores the role of the media in the creation of much contemporary imposture examining in particular the cases of Jumana Hanna Norma Khouri and James Frey The book also addresses ethnic imposture deliberate fictions plagiarism and ghostwriting all of which raise moral legal historical and cultural issues Egan concludes the volume with an examination of how historiography and law failed to support the identities of European Jews during World War II creating sufficient instability in Jewish identity and doubt about Jewish wartime experience that the impostor could step in This textual erasure of the Jews of Europe and the refashioning of their experiences in fraudulent texts are examples of imposture as an outcrop of extreme identity crisis The first to examine these issues in North America and Europe Burdens of Proof will be of interest to scholars of life writing and cultural studies
