Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time General questions of the literary as e g the relation between literature and reality truth and fiction the dependency of author narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs diaries self portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre this three volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition special emphasis is placed on the modes of self representation in non Western cultures and on inter and transcultural perspectives of the genre The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross references The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies students as well as non academic readers

Autobiography of Mark Twain, Volume 1 Mark Twain, 2010-11-15 Mark Twain's final and uncensored masterpiece presented in three volumes is a landmark publication in American literature Twain will begin to seem strange again alluring and still astonishing in ways that still resonate with us New York Times His crystalline humor and expansive range are a continuous source of delight and awe Los Angeles Times Book Review I've struck it Mark Twain wrote in a 1904 letter to a friend And I will give it away to you You will never know how much enjoyment you have lost until you get to dictating your autobiography Thus after dozens of false starts and hundreds of pages Twain embarked on his Final and Right Plan for telling the story of his life His innovative notion to talk only about the thing which interests you for the moment meant that his thoughts could range freely The strict instruction that many of these texts remain unpublished for 100 years meant that when they came out he would be dead and unaware and indifferent and that he was therefore free to speak his whole frank mind The year 2010 marks the 100th anniversary of Twain's death In celebration of this important milestone and in honor of the cherished tradition of publishing Mark Twain's works UC Press is proud to offer for the first time Mark Twain's uncensored autobiography in its entirety and exactly as he left it This major literary event brings to readers admirers and scholars the first of three volumes and presents Mark Twain's authentic and unsuppressed voice brimming with humor ideas and opinions and speaking clearly from the grave as he intended Editors Harriet E Smith Benjamin Griffin Victor Fischer Michael B Frank Sharon K Goetz Leslie Myrick

Autobiography Carolyn A. Barros, 2026-02-16 In Autobiography Narrative of Transformation Carolyn Barros creates a primer for the study of autobiography a genre many consider highly problematic She sees autobiography as a narrative of transformation a text that presents the before and after of an individual's life. Focusing on autobiography as narrative of something that happened to me, Barros highlights the various metamorphoses that are emplotted, bounded and framed by the author's language and demonstrates that change is the operative metaphor in autobiographical discourse. The study focuses primarily on autobiographies from the rich Victorian period. Thomas Carlyle's Sartor Resartus as it self-consciously fictionalized the composition of Diogenes Teufelsdröckh's life narrative provides a striking analog and paradigm for introducing the study and its methodological approach. Barros's major chapters on John Henry Cardinal Newman, John Stuart Mill, Charles Darwin and Margaret Oliphant detail four very different types of autobiographical transformation: religious, philosophical, scientific and literary, and in Barros's judgment establish benchmarks for considering autobiographies from antiquity to the present. A final chapter discusses autobiography's significance to an individual writer's corpus, to a particular culture and finally to a history of narratives of transformation.

Autobiography of Samuel D. Gross, M.D. v. 1 Samuel David Gross, 1893.

Living out of Bounds Steven J. Overman, 2008-11-30. Despite some enormous differences in salary among professional athletes, most aspects of their daily lives remain surprisingly constant across sports and income levels. In Living out of Bounds, author Steven J. Overman mines a wide array of sports biographies, autobiographies, memoirs and diaries to construct a representative picture of the athlete's life. In the course of the work, a portrait emerges that transcends the individual lives lived. The shared experiences of devoted training, of travel and hotels and of tension within and beyond the clubhouse or gym force us to appreciate the often oppressive reality of the sporting life at the same time that the individual lives lived also provide us with a glimpse of the rewards that make sports so compelling to audiences and athletes across America.
