Autobiographies Poems:

What a Life! a Different Kind of Biography Nelson Herbert Lafountain, 2020-11-15 Herein are printed stories and poems I have written over the years in my own way of telling my story Rather than an autobiography I thought this may be a better way of presenting one's life rather than in one mundane book I began with a book and then I found I like to present my life this way These are truthful works and not fiction Some had memory holes that needed filling who said what or who I gave credit to but nothing that would take away from the story It's just the way I tell my life After all my life has been a series of short stories and poems not one continuous biography or even one long story I tried to keep them truthful at all times My poetry is not the deep thinking style but happenings in poetry form I hope you enjoy it The Chapter numbers are assigned to the places I lived when the stories happened not necessarily in the order that they happened You will find the stories and poems are not numbered I began writing short stories and poems before I started my book Then after a few stories I figured it would be a good way to write a book So this is it for good or ill and I am not an author with an extensive vocabulary by any stretch of the imagination I hope you'll forgive that They so I'm told are quite interesting and easy reading Take them like vitamins one or two a day I hope you will laugh and cry and enjoy The stories poems musings and thoughts in this book are the product of but not limited to a lifetime of memories love life pain and laughter It is a labor of love in an effort to sing the praises of those that deserve it the most and not for the writer For it was the people that this work was dedicated to that I have to thank for almost all the memories If it weren't for the people there would be absolutely no need for writing this book

Autobiography of a Wound Brynne Rebele-Henry, 2018-08-11 In ancient fertility carvings artists would drill holes into the woman's body to signify penetrability which is the basis of Autobiography of a Wound allowing those wounds and puncture marks to speak through the fertility figures The wounds are chronicled through letters and poems addressed to F F stands for the fertility carvings themselves which are being addressed as one unified deity and A Aphrodite who is being referenced as a general deity of womanhood a figurine that reappears throughout the poems and a symbol that is referenced or portrayed in almost every fertility figurine or carving Autobiography of a Wound reconstructs the narrative surrounding female pathos and the idea of the hysteric girl

Collected Poems with Autobiographical and Critical Fragments Frederic William Henry Myers, 1921 Autobiography and Poems Hannah Cornaby, 1881 Autobiographies Alfred Corn, 1992 Since the publication of All Roads at Once in 1976 each of Alfred Corn's books has been praised for embodying an impressively wide range of subjects rendered with great technical skill Autobiographies is his most surprising achievement to date It opens with a group of lyric and reflective poems remarkable for their formal control and depth of feeling There is for example a harrowing poem about Dracula told from the viewpoint of a young woman subject to his spell The poems Coventry and Cannot Be a Tourist enact moments of recognition in other countries The narrator's experience of being on his own in New York City after the end of a thirteen year relationship is explored in Resolutions and La Madeleine the latter following parallels in the life of Mary Magdalene and Proust's Remembrance of Things Past Contemporary Culture and the Letter K charts twentieth century experience up to the age of AIDS according to the fortunes of a single letter of the alphabet The volume's long poem 1992 is an autobiographical narrative set in many different locations in the United States with scenes from five decades of the author's life These are placed beside brief plangent narratives from imagined lives of a wide cast of characters a Puerto Rican teenager living in New York a young woman of the Havasupai tribe a retired black artist in northern Ohio a Wisconsin mother visiting a dying relative a young man serving time for disorderly conduct in a New Hampshire jail The cumulatively widening and deepening picture of autobiographical and imagined experience provides a vivid and varied account of late twentieth century America up to the quincentennial year of Columbus's voyage In decades to come Autobiographies will be remembered as a bold and innovative turning point in this author's achievement BOOK JACKET

Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved I Sing the Song of Myself David Kherdian, 1978 A collection of autobiographical poems by modern American poets The Prelude; Or, Growth of a Poet's Mind William Wordsworth, 1850 Poems and Prose, with a Short Autobiography, Also Anecdotes of and Personal Interviews with the Late Rev. C.H. Spurgeon and Others Joseph Gwyer, 1895 I Wanted to Write a Poem William Carlos Williams, 1958 One Hundred Autobiographies David Lehman, 2019-10-15 In One Hundred Autobiographies poet and scholar David Lehman applies the full measure of his intellectual powers to cope with a frightening diagnosis and painful treatment for cancer No matter how debilitating the medical procedures Lehman wrote every day during chemotherapy and in the aftermath of radical surgery With characteristic riffs of wit and imagination he transmutes the details of his inner life into a prose narrative rich in incident and mental travel The reader journeys with him from the first dreadful symptoms to the sunny days of recovery This fake memoir as he refers ironically to it features one hundred short vignettes that tell a life story One Hundred Autobiographies is packed with insights and epiphanies that may prove as indispensable to aspiring writers as Rilke's Letters to a Young Poet Set against the backdrop of Manhattan Lehman summons John Ashbery Kenneth Koch Edward Said and Lionel Trilling among his mentors Dostoyevsky shows up as does Graham Greene Keith Richards and Patti Hansen put in an appearance Edith Piaf sings Clint Eastwood saves the neighborhood and the Rat Pack comes along for the ride These and other avatars of popular culture help Lehman to make sense of his own mortality and life story One Hundred Autobiographies reveals a stunning portrait of a mind against the ropes facing its own extinction surviving and enduring

Careful Cartography Devon Bohm, 2021-11-15 Careful Cartography the striking debut collection from Devon Bohm doubles as life writing and poetry With her detailed geographic narrative Bohm plots out her autobiography through both external and internal landscapes Strong in style and voice these impactful free verse poems create a map through wordscapes that equate to topographical locations a search culminating in the most elusive and unmappable of locations a home
