Liana Chua,Casey High,Timm Lau,2008 Since its inception modern anthropology has stood at the confluence of two mutually constitutive modes of knowledge production participant observation and theoretical analysis This unique combination of practice and theory has been the subject of recurrent intellectual and methodological debate raising questions that strike at the very heart of the discipline How Do We Know is a timely contribution to emerging debates that seek to understand this relationship through the theme of evidence Incorporating a diverse selection of case studies ranging from the Tibetan emotion of shame to films of Caribbean musicians it critically addresses such questions as What constitutes viable oeanthropological evidence How does evidence generated through small scale intensive periods of participant observation challenge or engender abstract theoretical models Are certain types of evidence inherently oebetter than others How have recent interdisciplinary collaborations and technological innovations altered the shape of anthropological evidence Extending a long standing tradition of reflexivity within the discipline the contributions to this volume are ethnographically grounded and analytically ambitious meditations on the theme of evidence Cumulatively they challenge the boundaries of what
