

The top half of the book cover features a photograph of a family walking along a beach at sunset. The scene is captured in silhouette against a bright, glowing sky. From left to right, there is a child, an adult, a child carrying a dog, another adult, and a final child. The overall mood is peaceful and domestic.

Australian Families A Comparative Perspective:

Australian Families Michael Gilding, 1997 Australian families a comparative perspective The Transformation of Australia's Population Siew-An Khoo, Peter Francis McDonald, Siew-Ean Khoo, 2003 Transformation of Australia's population 1970-2030 Families, Labour and Love Maureen Baker, 2020-07-29 We think of our family life as very personal but in fact it is shaped by influences well beyond our control Families Labour and Love identifies the ways in which family and personal life in three settler societies Australia New Zealand and Canada has been shaped by colonisation immigration globalisation demographic changes law and policy Baker shows that these three countries each a former colony developed similar family trends and similar family policies Strongly gendered patterns of paid and unpaid work played a major role in family life The family practices of indigenous people were largely overlooked as were those of recent immigrant groups However local conditions also produced significant differences in family experiences among the three countries Richly illustrated with examples comparative data and textual sources Families Labour and Love provides a broad ranging analysis of the family which will appeal to students researchers and policy makers Maureen Baker outlines with great clarity the diversity of families and the way in which they are shaped by historical and cultural forces The focus on Australia New Zealand and Canada is not only refreshing but throws into sharp relief the impact on contemporary families of the colonial experience industrialisation large scale immigration and globalisation David de Vaus La Trobe University Professional Collaboration with Parents of Children with Disabilities Louise Porter, Susan McKenzie, 2000-10-23 The work of professionals with children with disabilities affects the children's family while events at home affect what professionals can achieve with the children This text describes how professionals can form collaborative relationships with the parents of the children in their care to optimise the children's development and to enable both family members and professionals to work in the children's interests It describes experiences of families who have a child with a disability and takes a new look at old assumptions that disability necessarily has a negative effect on families or that families themselves are in need of therapy simply by virtue of having a child with additional needs This text offers practical insights and guidelines for action by teachers occupational therapists physiotherapists speech pathologists and psychologists It is a practical text that enables practitioners to offer a high quality service to children while supporting the family in its role of nurturing their child with special needs Sociology Robert Van Krieken, Daphne Habibi, Philip Smith, Brett Hutchins, Greg Martin, Karl Maton, 2013-09-12 Building upon the success of previous editions this fully revised edition of Sociology lays the foundations for understanding sociology in Australia The depth and breadth of the book ensures its value not only for first year students but for sociology majors requiring on going reference to a range of theoretical perspectives and current debates This fifth Australian edition continues to build on the book's reputation for coverage clarity and content drawing upon the work of leading Australian sociologists as well as engaging with global social trends and sociological developments Canadian and Australian Politics in Comparative Perspective Henry Stephen Albinski,1973 New Times: New Families V. Carrington,2013-03-14 There can be little doubt that ours is a society riding the crest of vast and profound social and economic change The material conditions and social landscapes through which we experience our lives are increasingly an uncharted sea of unanticipated shift and hidden consequence and many of us have the unsettling feeling that we are out of our depth It is natural to respond to this rapid and fundamental change with concern particularly when many of the enduring keystones of our lives have been problematized Family is one such keystone Family and its apparent decline is a topic of great interest The breakdown of marriage and other relationships family roles and responsibilities the alienation of children the rights of grandparents juvenile crime and drug usage and the emotional fallout of divorce are all current and emotive issues Few individuals remain untouched by this debate The changes we are witnessing in relation to family are made all the more worrisome because we have a limited vocabulary for discussing and understanding profound change a vocabulary characterized by normative framings and assumptions of deficit It is very easy to look at the changes in traditional family structure and read breakdown decline and loss A politics of blame and rhetoric of reconstitution very quickly follows However given the fundamental nature of contemporary social and economic change this is not an adequate response

Handbook on Families and Education Sivanes Phillipson,Wendy Goff,Susanne Garvis,2025-02-12 This timely Handbook presents vital perspectives underpinning historical current and emerging trends within family and education studies Editors Sivanes Phillipson Wendy Goff and Susanne Garvis bring together a diverse collective of authors to holistically depict the unique role of families within education The Future of Families to 2030 OECD,2011-12-22 This report explores likely future changes in family and household structures in OECD countries identifies the main forces shaping the family landscape to 2030 discusses the longer term challenges and suggests policy options for managing the challenges Family Mobility Catherine Doherty,Wendy Patton,Paul Shield,2014-08-21 Family mobility decisions reveal much about how the public and private realms of social life interact and change This sociological study explores how contemporary families reconcile individual members career and education projects within the family unit over time and space and unpacks the intersubjective constraints on workforce mobility This Australian mixed methods study sampled Defence Force families and middle class professional families to illustrate how families educational projects are necessarily and deeply implicated in issues of workforce mobility and immobility in complex ways Defence families move frequently often absorbing the stresses of moving through viscous institutions as private troubles In contrast the selective mobility of middle class professional families and their no go zones contribute to the public issue of poorly serviced rural communities Families with different social material and vocational resources at their disposal are shown to reflexively weigh the benefits and risks associated with moving differently The book also explore how priorities shift as children move through educational phases The families narratives offer empirical windows on larger social processes such as the mobility imperative the gender imbalance in the family s
