Australian Landscape and its Effects in Media. Examples of Works by David Malouf and Stephan Elliot's Priscilla Sophie Schott, 2015-01-27 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 3 University of Frankfurt Main Institute for English and American Studies course Narrative Spaces Land and Cityscapes in Australian Literature language English abstract Different media can present and narrate landscapes and these presentations evoke different reactions There are several distinctions between the visual and linguistic demonstration of landscape that can be observed and must be considered when analysing either a written description or a pictorial representation hence the focus is laid on differences between films and novels A novel and a film are two separate media which utilise different methods to present landscapes A written text leaves more room for personal interpretations whereas a film represents really existing landscapes The viewer has to accept the actuality of the presented pictures which is why films limit own interpretations compared to novels This differentiation is noticeable in the provoked feelings for the reader respectively viewer Examples are the short story collections Dream Stuff 2000 and Complete Stories 2007 by David Malouf and Stephan Elliot's film Priscilla 1994 The film is about three drag queens crossing the Australian Outback on their road trip from Sydney to Alice Springs Malouf's short stories deal with people of different age who experience landscape in different ways due to distinct events and circumstances Both the short stories and the film present the landscape of Australia but in totally different ways because of distinct techniques A director makes use of varying camera angles focuses and colours which lead to the feeling of being within the scene for the viewer An author discloses the protagonists thoughts and feelings consequently the reader is able to empathise with them At last the outcomes of the first two parts are related to each other Comparing the presented landscapes in novels and films directly illustrates different methods of representation For example feelings like loneliness or isolation are depicted differently in these two media In addition this analysis also examines the level of detailed depiction of landscape showing that the representation of landscapes in novels is more detailed compared to the represented landscapes in films Australian Landscape Painting John Reed,1965 Australian Landscapes in Watercolour Jack McDonogh,1984 The Australian landscape offers a wonderful variety of scenery and colour for an artist As a watercolourist you can capture the soft mists rising from warm ground after rain fleecy clouds in deep blue vast skies or the muted browns greys an greens of the bush BOOK COVER The Story of Australian Art, from the Earliest Known Art of the Continent to the Art of To-day William Moore,1934 Painters in the Australian Landscape Robert Walker,1988 Fourteen contemporary Australian painters talk about themselves their art and their role in society The pieces try to demonstrate each artist s personality and style of working as well as providing information about their works and how they fit into the painting scene in Australia Numerous colour and black and white photographs of several of each artist s works accompany the text The quality of the writing and of the information provided is very good and the book would be useful reading for students from year 10 upwards and also as a teacher reference The Making of the South Australian Landscape Michael Williams,1974 Light on the Land Ben Messina,2014-05-31 Light on the Land is a collection of Australian landscape photography by renowned photographer Ben Messina Light on the Land contains stunning images from every state and territory in australia Soils in the Australian Landscape Ann Rua Mackenzie Young,R.
