Beaches And Dunes Of Developed Coasts:

Beaches and Dunes of Developed Coasts Karl F. Nordstrom, 2004-06-03 Volume on coastal management aimed at consulting engineers research scientists developers and students Beaches and Dunes of Developed Coasts Karl F. Nordstrom, 2009-12-18 This volume discusses the role of humans in transforming the coastal landscape The book details the many ways beaches and dunes are eliminated altered and replaced and the differences between natural landforms and the human artefacts that replace them Emphasis is placed on the importance of retaining naturally functioning beaches and dunes in ways that achieve natural values while accommodating development and use The issues dealt with in this book will be of interest to practising coastal engineers and research scientists as well as to planners and managers of coastal resources at all levels of government It will be of particular value to investigators planning for the future of coastal development under accelerated sea level rise The book will also be useful as a reference text for graduate and advanced undergraduate courses in geography geology ecology and other disciplines dealing with the interaction between science technology and society Beach and Dune Restoration Karl F. Nordstrom, Nancy L. Jackson, 2021-12-16 New edition presents progress made to practices additional case studies and emerging issues for coastal scientists engineers planners

Sand Dune Conservation, Management and Restoration J. Patrick Doody, 2012-09-18 This book deals with the development of temperate coastal sand dunes and the way these have been influenced by human activity The different states in which the habitat exists both for the beach foredune and inland dune are reviewed against the pressures exerted upon them Options for management are considered and the likely consequences of taking a particular course of action highlighted These options include traditional approaches to the conservation and management of wildlife and landscapes as well as habitat restoration The way the value of the areas changes under different management regimes is considered mainly from an environmental perspective Consideration is given to new approaches to management and restoration including adopting a more dynamic approach Audience This book will be of interest to academics students and professionals concerned with policy formulation and or actively managing coastal areas Values at Sea Dorinda G. Dallmeyer, 2003 The human impact on vast areas of the oceans remains relatively unregulated Sometimes in fact the only controls over our exploitation of marine resources lie in our environmental consciousness While the field of environmental ethics has explored rights and duties for land use stewardship and policy relatively little attention has been given to comparable issues of marine environments Values at Sea makes an important step toward moving environmental ethics discussions into a broader framework Gathered here are fifteen papers by an interdisciplinary group of scholars including ethicists marine scientists anthropologists economists geographers lawyers and activists From the Great Lakes to the Pacific Islands from the open sea to coastal areas the papers cover a broad array of ethical issues and policy matters related to such topics as the valuation of marine life indigenous peoples knowledge and environmental stewardship endemic and exotic species aquaculture oil spills and species protection
