Dying to Be Normal Brett Krutzsch,2019-02-01 On October 14 1998 five thousand people gathered on the steps of the U S Capitol to mourn the death of Matthew Shepard a gay college student who had been murdered in Wyoming eight days earlier Politicians and celebrities addressed the crowd and the televised national audience to share their grief with the country Never before had a gay citizen s murder elicited such widespread outrage or concern from straight Americans In Dying to Be Normal Brett Krutzsch argues that gay activists memorialized people like Shepard as part of a political strategy to present gays as similar to the country s dominant class of white straight Christians Through an examination of publicly mourned gay deaths Krutzsch counters the common perception that LGBT politics and religion have been oppositional and reveals how gay activists used religion to bolster the argument that gays are essentially the same as straights and therefore deserving of equal rights Krutzsch s analysis turns to the memorialization of Shepard Harvey Milk Tyler Clementi Brandon Teena and F C Martinez to campaigns like the It Gets Better Project and national tragedies like the Pulse nightclub shooting to illustrate how activists used prominent deaths to win acceptance influence political debates over LGBT rights and encourage assimilation Throughout Krutzsch shows how in the fight for greater social inclusion activists relied on Christian values and rhetoric to portray gays as upstanding Americans As Krutzsch demonstrates gay activists regularly reinforced a white Protestant vision of acceptable American citizenship that often excluded people of color gender variant individuals non Christians and those who did not adhere to Protestant Christianity s sexual standards The first book to detail how martyrdom has influenced national debates over LGBT rights Dying to Be Normal establishes how religion has shaped gay assimilation in the United States and the mainstreaming of particular gays as normal Americans 'Ali and Mu'awiya in Early Arabic Tradition Erling Ladewig Petersen,1974 The Euston Road School Bruce Laughton,1986 Columbia Law Review ,1924 New Buffalo, MI Lighthouse, 1839-1859 Patricia A.
