British Poetry Since 1939:

British Poetry since 1939 Bruce K. Martin, 1985 Poetry Since 1939 Stephen Spender, 1946 British Poetry Since 1939 Bruce K. Martin, 1985 English Poetry Since 1940 Neil Corcoran, 2014-07-15 Neil Corcoran's book is a major survey and interpretation of modern British poetry since 1940 offering a wealth of insights into poets and their work and placing them in a broader context of poetic dialogue and cultural exchange. The book is organised into five main parts beginning with a consideration of the late Modernism of T S Eliot and W H Auden and ranging decade by decade from the poetry of the Second World War and the New Romanticism of Dylan Thomas to the Movement, the poetry of Northern Ireland, the variety of contemporary women's poetry and the diversity of the contemporary scene. The book will be especially useful for students as it includes detailed and lively readings of works by such poets as Ted Hughes, Seamus Heaney and Philip Larkin. British Poetry of the Second World War L. Shires, 1985-06-03 British Poetry Since the Sixteenth Century John Garrett, 1986-01-01 Poetry Since 1939 Stephen Spender, 1946 The New American Poetry John R. Woznicki, 2013-12-24. The New American Poetry Fifty Years Later is a collection of critical essays on Donald Allen's 1960 seminal anthology The New American Poetry, an anthology that Marjorie Perloff once called the fountainhead of radical American poetics. The New American Poetry is referred to in every literary history of post-World War II American poetry. Allen's anthology has reached its fiftieth anniversary providing a unique time for reflection and reevaluation of this preeminent collection. As we know, Allen's anthology was groundbreaking; it was the first to distribute widely the poetry and theoretical positions of poets such as Charles Olson, Allen Ginsberg, and the Beats, and it was the first to categorize these poets by the schools: Black Mountain, New York School, San Francisco Renaissance, and the Beats, by which they are known today. Over the course of fifty years, this categorization of poets into schools has become one of the major, if not only, way that The New American Poetry is remembered or valued. One certain goal of this volume, as one reviewer invites, is to pry The New American Poetry out from the hoary platitudes that have encrusted it. To this point, critics mostly have examined The New American Poetry as an anthology; former treatments of The New American Poetry look at it intently as a whole. Though the almost singularly focused study of its construction and less often reception has lent a great deal of documented, highly visible and debated material in which to consider, we have been left with certain notions about its relevance that have become imbued ultimately in the collective critical consciousness of postmodernity. This volume, however, goes beyond the analysis of construction and reception and achieves something distinctive, extending those former treatments by treading on the paths they create. This volume aims to discover another sense of radical that Perloff articulated rather than a radical that departs markedly from the usual. We invite consideration of The New American Poetry that is radical in the sense of root, of harboring something fundamental, something inherent, as we uncover and trace further elements correlated with its widespread influence over the last fifty years. an award winning poet offers clear and positive help to students who are faced by a modern poem which puzzles and frightens them How do we proceed to construct a critical response to a poem which may not rhyme may not have metrical regularity may not be written in verses or even have conventional punctuation This book deals imaginatively and originally with such problems It also provides helpful critical readings of many of the major poems of the post war years by poets such as Ted Hughes Sylvia Plath Dylan Thomas Philip Larkin Seamus Heaney R S Thomas Dannie Abse and William Carlos Williams

Poets of Great Britain and Ireland Since 1960 Vincent B. Sherry, 1985 Essays on British and Irish poets published in the years between 1960 and 1985 whose methods and outlooks as reflected in their works display the diversity and vitality of poetry during a twenty five year period that ranged from experimental modernism to traditional forms renewed by the shifts of attitude in the 1960s

Nine Contemporary Poets P.R.
