Convention,1928 Assembling cultures Jack Saunders,2019-05-10 In British political discourse the idea that in the 1970s trade unions ran the country has become a truism a folk mythology invoked against the twin perils of socialism and strikes But who exactly wielded power in Britain s workplaces and on what terms Assembling cultures takes a fine grained look at factory activism in the motor industry between 1945 and 1982 using car manufacturing as a key case for unpicking important narratives around affluence declinism and class It traces the development of the militant car worker stereotype and looks at the real social relations that lay behind car manufacturing s reputation for conflict In doing so this book reveals a changing complex world of social practices cultural norms and shared values and expectations From relatively meagre interwar trade union traditions during the post war period car workers developed shop floor organisations of considerable authority enabling some to make new demands of their working lives but constraining others in their more radical political aims Assembling cultures documents in detail a historic process where from the 1950s groups and individuals set about creating and reproducing collective power and asks what that meant for their lives This is a story of workers and their place in the power relations of post war Britain This book will be invaluable to lecturers and students studying the history sociology and politics of post war Britain particularly those with an interest in power rationality class labour gender and race The detailed analysis of just how solidarity organisation and collective action were generated will also prove useful to trade union activists Economic Abstracts ,1970-06 Review of abstracts on economics finance trade industry foreign aid management marketing labour British Political Facts David Butler,Anne Sloman,1969-09-01 Transport Salaried Staff Journal ,1926
