Aesthetics and Influences in the Twenty-First Century Flute Concerti of Chinese-Born American Composers

Shelley Smith, 2012 ABSTRACT Raised and educated in China during the Cultural Revolution Zhou Long Chen Yi and Bright Sheng immigrated to the United States in the 1980s to pursue additional study Now American citizens each composer continues to reside in the US composing in a unique voice that speaks to both Eastern and Western aesthetics and influences

Guided by personal correspondence with these three living composers this treatise will highlight the operation of select Chinese aesthetics as well as folk music traditions within each composer's concerto for flute and Western orchestra. Western and East Asian music have long acted as sources of mutual inspiration and influence. This investigation addresses the presence of Western music in China through the late twentieth century as well as the influence of Chinese music within the United States. Recognition of the relationship existing between the United States and China offers greater appreciation of these works within the context of past and present composition. Following a brief survey of salient philosophical influences, this treatise explores relevant aesthetic concepts including connection to nature, silence and simplicity, balance, change, and the symbiotic relationship existing between art and language. The majority of this project strives to elucidate the presence of Eastern and Western aesthetics and influence within Chen Yi's The Golden Flute, Zhou Long's Five Elements, and Bright Sheng's Flute Moon.

Adams, 2007-01-16. The University of Louisville's annual Grawemeyer Award for Music Composition is the largest monetary award offered in its field. The international prize is offered for outstanding achievement by a living composer in a large musical genre such as choral, orchestral, chamber, electronic, song cycle, dance, opera, musical theater, or extended solo work. Since the award was first offered in 1985, the Dwight Anderson Memorial Music Library, one of the largest new music collections in North America, has housed the competition submissions. In order to keep an accurate listing detailing the holdings of this collection, this catalog was developed. Grawemeyer Award for Music Composition: The First Twenty Years catalogs every submission for this prestigious award, offering complete information on all the competition submissions, including title, composer, format, length, instrumentation, and information on where to find or purchase the composition. The bulk of the catalog is listed alphabetically by composer so that users can learn whose works were submitted over the 20 years covered by the award. The additional appendixes provide the opposite perspective: a year-by-year glance at the award and those who submitted works each year. Concluding with an index, this catalog increases awareness of this collection and acknowledges the work of these important composers and their consequence to recent music history. Chronology of
