about adventure or aviation history The Heart of a Pilot Thomas Lee Bangart,2010-04 It was during a time when his family was financially down that the author discovered his passion At a county fair where it was difficult for him and his mother to experience even a single carnival ride the five year old boy found himself fascinated with only one amusement the old Curtis Robin airplane in a nearby pasture giving rides for 25 cents per person Knowing such a price was far beyond their means it seemed like magic when suddenly a family friend produced the great sum of 50 cents so that he and his mother could both take a ride in that plane As soon as the engine roared to life and the airplane lurched forward across the rough pasture and into the sky where he could see the beautiful view from above Tom knew right then that he wanted to go flying for the rest of his life Now in his early eighties Bangart relives his wonderful journey through the skies and life to bring inspiration to others Back cover Bush Pilots Bob Cary,Jack Hautala,2014-09-14 For many years much of northern Minnesota s wilderness was accessible only by small seaplane The pilots who flew the area developed the instincts and ability to fly with few or no instruments in all types of situations and weather Bush Pilots captures the fierce spirit of these remarkable pilots and their adventures wrecks humor and rescues Read their compelling stories and grab a cup of coffee and listen to the legendary pilots story swapping session on the included CD Decision Making in Aviation Don Harris,Wen-Chin Li,2017-07-05 Decision making pervades every aspect of life people make hundreds of decisions every day The vast majority of these are trivial and without a right or wrong answer In some respects there is also nothing extraordinary about pilot decision making It is only the setting that is different the underlying cognitive processes are just the same However it is the context and the consequences of a poor decision which serve to differentiate aeronautical decision making Decisions on the flight deck are often made with incomplete information and while under time pressure The implications for inadequate performance is much more serious than in many other professions Poor decisions are implicated in over half of all aviation accidents This volume contains key papers published over the last 25 years providing an overview of the major paradigms by which aeronautical decision making has been investigated Furthermore decision making does not occur in isolation It is a joint function of the flight tasks knowledge equipment on the flight deck and other stressors In this volume of collected papers works from leading authors in the field consider all these aspects of aeronautical decision making
