Joseph Matthews, Gary Monroe Crow, 2010 The Principalship allows readers to gain a broader more complex and accurate understanding of school administrator leadership in today s learning communities while presenting an expansive view of leadership within schools not limited to the responsibilities of the principal but including those of assistant principals administrators teachers and students This innovative first edition text presents a complete picture of the principal as school administrator community builder advocate manager mentor supervisor politician leader and learner The Principalship covers the importance of learning the learning of principals the learning of other professionals and especially the learning of students School improvement is not possible without this across the board learning and exploration and this text places a strong emphasis on this simple but often overlooked aspect of school communities Today s school systems are faced with a number of fresh challenges changing student populations rapidly expanding research knowledge increasing accountability requirements federal and state policy demands and escalating expectations for school services This book will help aspiring school leaders to bridge the gap between traditional conceptualizations of the principal and more innovative functional and multifaceted conceptualizations that respond to the changing conditions and higher demands of contemporary learning communities American Educational Research Association Annual Meeting Program American Educational Research Association,2005 Preparing Tomorrow's School Leaders Joseph Murphy,1993 In this book faculty from nine universities describe innovations undertaken in the context of their institutions administrator preparation programs The goal is to inform the profession about recent efforts to strengthen preparation programs in school administration Following the introductory material the preface foreword and introduction chapter 1 sets the stage for the case studies that follow by describing three eras of ferment in school administration in the United States Chapters 2 10 offer stories of nine institutions actively engaged in comprehensive program improvement efforts The institutions include the University of New Mexico Stanford University the University of Washington the University of Utah East Tennessee State University the University of Colorado Miami University and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill A concluding chapter discusses implications of these cases for more widespread reform in administrator preparation Notes and references accompany each chapter LMI Leadership for Tomorrow's Schools Jerry L. principles we set forth here will flourish as a species and add great variety to the ecology of education One reason for creating them is to promote diversity and experimentation in an educational landscape that often looks flat and monotonous Rich variety will prove to be a source of great strength in the ensuing conversations among the network of those taking part in this work From the preface Creating Tomorrow's Philanthropists: Curriculum Development for Youth Patricia O.
