Planning with the semi-input-output method A. Kuyenhoven,2012-12-06 The semi input output method was introduced by Professor Jan Tinbergen in the early 1960 s in fairly obscure places in the economic literature The basic idea of the method is a very simple one and does not require lengthy and sophisticated exposition to be understood This fact together perhaps with Tinbergen s dislike for very formalized and technical analysis probably explains why he himself has never given a full exposition and elaboration of this method Nevertheless the concept did not remain unnoticed and authors such as B Hansen and some of Tinbergen s collaborators in particular P A Cor nelisse and J Versluis have contributed to the elaboration of the method The present work by Dr A Kuyvenhoven also a long time collaborator of Tinbergen has provided us with the first full and in my opinion definite exposition of the nature technique and use of the semi input output method now more than 15 years after the launching of the concept

Population Growth, Income Distribution, and Economic Development Nico Heerink,2012-12-06

In this book a model of long term interrelationships between income distribution population growth and economic development is developed and estimated from data for 54 countries The results indicate that a reduction of income inequality leads to lower fertility and mortality to improved basic needs satisfaction and to lower labour force participation of young and old males and of females in Asia and Africa The effect of income distribution on saving and consumption is found to be negligible These outcomes suggest that family planning and health policies in LDCs will show better results when they are supplemented with policies aimed at making the poor benefit from economic growth As regards development policy the results indicate that a reduction of income inequality does not impair the formation of physical capital but enhances the formation of human capital and lowers the growth rate of the labour force
