Direct And Indirect Speech Trends In Linguistics:

Direct and Indirect Speech Florian Coulmas,1986-01-01 Studies in South Slavic and Balkan Linguistics
,2023-04-12 Studies in Slavic and General Linguistics is mainly devoted to the field of descriptive linguistics Although the series is primarily intended to be a means of publication for linguists from the Low Countries the editors are pleased to accept contributions by linguists from abroad Grammar as Interpretation Egbert J. Bakker,2018-07-17 Looking at its subject from the standpoint of modern discourse analysis this study deals with problems of style and grammar in Greek and Latin texts Its aim is to shed light on the interaction between the mechanism of the Greek and Latin languages as interactive tools and the structure of the texts that have come down to us The interpretive orientation offered differs from most literary studies in its taking linguistic observations as point of departure and its considering grammar as a positive factor in the interpretive process It differs from most linguistic studies in the field in demonstrating the importance of linguistic methodology for classical philology in general The book contains studies of various authors genres and text types preceded by an introductory essay on the role of grammar in philology Direct and Indirect Speech Florian Coulmas,1986 In this chapter you will learn Speech is divided into direct and indirect reported speech Direct speech involves quoting the exact words uttered by the person within inverted commas or quotation marks Indirect reported speech does not use quotation marks Past tenses of the verb is to be used There is a change in the verbs in Reported speech There is a change in the pronouns in reported speech There is a change in the Adverbs of place and time in reported speech There is a change in the Modal verbs in reported speech Reported Discourse Tom Güldemann,Manfred von Roncador,2002-09-24 The present volume unites 15 papers on reported discourse from a wide genetic and geographical variety of languages Besides the treatment of traditional problems of reported discourse like the classification of its intermediate categories the book reflects in particular how its grammatical semantic and pragmatic properties have repercussions in other linguistic domains like tense aspect modality evidentiality reference tracking and pronominal categories and the grammaticalization history of quotative constructions Almost all papers present a major shift away from analyzing reported discourse with the help of abstract transformational principles toward embedding it in functional and pragmatic aspects of language Another central methodological approach pervading this collection consists in the discourse oriented examination of reported discourse based on large corpora of spoken or written texts which is increasingly replacing analyses of constructed de contextualized utterances prevalent in many earlier treatments The book closes with a comprehensive bibliography on reported discourse of about 1 000 entries Universal Access in Human-Computer Interaction. Applications and Services Constantine Stephanidis,2011-06-24 The four volume set LNCS 6765 6768 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Universal Access in Human Computer Interaction UAHCI 2011 held as Part of HCI International 2011 in Orlando FL USA in July 2011 jointly with 10 other conferences addressing the latest research and development efforts and highlighting the human aspects of design and use of computing systems The 72 revised papers included in the fourth volume were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions The papers are organized in the following topical sections speech communication and dialogue interacting with documents and images universal access to education and learning well being health and rehabilitation applications and universal access in complex working environments

Indirect Reports and Pragmatics Alessandro Capone, Ferenc Kiefer, Franco Lo Piparo, 2015-12-01 This volume offers the reader a singular overview of current thinking on indirect reports The contributors are eminent researchers from the fields of philosophy of language theoretical linguistics and communication theory who answer questions on this important issue This exciting area of controversy has until now mostly been treated from the viewpoint of philosophy This volume adds the views from semantics conversation analysis and sociolinguistics Authors address matters such as the issue of semantic minimalism vs radical contextualism the attribution of responsibility for the modes of presentation associated with Noun Phrases and how to distinguish the indirect reporter's responsibility from the original speaker's responsibility They also explore the connection between indirect reporting and direct quoting Clearly indirect reporting has some bearing on the semantics pragmatics debate however there is much controversy on what is said whether this is a minimal semantic logical form enriched by saturating pronominals or a much richer and fully contextualized logical form This issue will be discussed from several angles Many of the authors are contextualists and the discussion brings out the need to take context into account when one deals with indirect reports both the context of the original utterance and the context of the report It is interesting to see how rich cues and clues can radically transform the reported message assigning illocutionary force and how they can be mobilized to distinguish several voices in the utterance Decoupling the voice of the reporting speaker from that of the reported speaker on the basis of rich contextual clues is an important issue that pragmatic theory has to tackle Articles on the issue of slurs will bring new light to the issue of decoupling responsibility in indirect reporting while others are theoretically oriented and deal with deep problems in philosophy and epistemology
