Painting the Maple Veronica Jane Strong-Boag, 1998 Painting the Maple explores the critical interplay of race and gender in shaping Canadian culture history politics and healthcare These interdisciplinary essays draw on feminist postcolonial and critical theory in a wide ranging discussion that encompasses both high and popular forms of culture the deliberation of policy and its execution and social movements as well as individual authors and texts The contributors who come from many fields establish connections among discourses of race gender and nation building that have conditioned the formation of Canada for more than one hundred years They analyze ways in which these elements have participated in and contributed to exclusionary practices and policies such as marginalization of women and racialized groups Together their essays paint a picture of a nation that privileges whiteness masculinity and Christianity This book gathers many insights on the construction of Canada hitherto scattered in the literature It will be of interest to feminist scholars and others concerned with issues of race and gender At times provocative Painting the Maple illuminates the challenges that lie ahead for all Canadians who aspire to create a better future in a reimagined nation

Writing the Hyphen Susanne Hilf, 2000 This study explores how issues of interculturalism and hybridity are dealt with in early and contemporary Chinese Canadian literature The book opens with an overview of the sociohistorical context which shaped many of the recurring topics and tropes in Chinese Canadian writing Drawing on select post colonial theories as well as on the idea of writing culture the subsequent discussion of poems and short stories published in the 1970s and 1980s reveals that the authors of earlier works sought to define a distinct and ethnoculturally specific collective identity While dualisms such as Asian Canadian or Us Them form the basis of identity formation in these earlier writings the author argues that the more recent and stylistically hybrid prose works by Sky Lee Larissa Lai and Fred Wah undermine such dualisms illustrating a more playful and less programmatic use of cultural overlapping
