disproportionately more vulnerable to disease and other forms of human insecurity due to differences in entitlement empowerment and an array of other ecological and socio economic factors These gendered insecurities are inextricably linked to poverty and as a result the feminization of poverty is a growing phenomenon worldwide The contributors to this volume rely on a gender focused analysis to consider a number of issues central to human security and development in Africa including food security environmental health risks discrimination within judicial and legal systems gendered aspects of HIV AIDS transmission and treatment technologies neoliberalism and poverty alleviation strategies and conflict and women s political activism The gender focus of this volume points to the importance of power relationships and policy variability underlying human insecurities in the African context The insights of this book offer the potential for an improved human security framework one that embraces a more complex and context specific analysis of the issues of risk and vulnerability therefore expanding the capacities of the human security framework to safeguard the livelihoods of the most vulnerable populations
