Value and Reward Based Learning in Neurobots Jeffrey L Krichmar, Florian Röhrbein, 2015-03-05 Organisms are equipped with value systems that signal the salience of environmental cues to their nervous system causing a change in the nervous system that results in modification of their behavior These systems are necessary for an organism to adapt its behavior when an important environmental event occurs A value system constitutes a basic assumption of what is good and bad for an agent These value systems have been effectively used in robotic systems to shape behavior For example many robots have used models of the dopaminergic system to reinforce behavior that leads to rewards Other modulatory systems that shape behavior are acetylcholine s effect on attention norepinephrine s effect on vigilance and serotonin s effect on impulsiveness mood and risk Moreover hormonal systems such as oxytocin and its effect on trust constitute as a value system This book presents current research involving neurobiologically inspired robots whose behavior is 1 Shaped by value and reward learning 2 adapted through interaction with the environment and 3 shaped by extracting value from the environment

Classroom Dynamics Ellen B. Mandinach, Hugh F. Cline, 2013-12-16 This book reports an attempt to introduce change in schools using a computer based curriculum innovation for teaching higher order thinking skills to middle and high school students One of the volume s themes is the extraordinary complexity and difficulty of facilitating such change in schools A corollary of that theme is the fact that patience must be an integral part of the strategy when promoting or studying change in schools In reporting the activities during the early years of a technological innovation and research project in which the emphasis thus far has been primarily on establishing the change this book focuses on describing the move to a technology based learning environment As such it details an ongoing process a fascinating process and one that is likely to be repeated in the near future in countless schools throughout the nation Los Angeles School Journal ,1928
