The Atomic Bomb and American Society Rosemary B. Mariner, G. Kurt Piehler, 2009 Drawing on the latest research on the atomic bomb and its history the contributors to this provocative collection of eighteen essays set out to answer two key questions First how did the atomic bomb a product of unprecedented technological innovation rapid industrial scale manufacturing and unparalleled military deployment shape U S foreign policy the communities of workers who produced it and society as a whole And second how has American society's perception that the the bomb is a means of military deterrence in the Cold War era evolve under the influence of mass media scientists public intellectuals and even the entertainment industry In answering these questions The Atomic Bomb and American Society sheds light on the collaboration of science and the military in creating the bomb the role of women working at Los Alamos the transformation of nuclear physicists into public intellectuals as the reality of the bomb came into widespread consciousness the revolutionary change in military strategy following the invention of the bomb and the development of Cold War ideology the image of the bomb that was conveyed in the popular media and the connection of the bomb to the commemoration of World War II As it illuminates the cultural social political environmental and historical effects of the creation of the atomic bomb this volume contributes to our understanding of how democratic institutions can coexist with a technology that affects everyone even if only a few are empowered to manage it Rosemary B Mariner is formerly Joint Chiefs of Staff Chair and Professor of Military Studies for the National War College She is currently a lecturer in history at the University of Tennessee Knoxville G Kurt Piehler is associate professor of history and former director of the Center for the Study of War and Society at the University of Tennessee Knoxville which hosted the conference that formed the basis of this volume He is the author of Remembering War the American Way and World War II in the American Soldiers Lives Series as well as the coeditor with John Whiteclay Chambers II of Major Problems in American Military History

Prehistoric Settlement Patterns in the Texcoco Region, Mexico Jeffrey R. Parsons, 1971-01-01 In this volume archaeologist Jeffrey R Parsons presents research based on an extensive 1967 survey of the Texcoco Region in the Valley of Mexico The sites are organized by time period from Middle Formative to Aztec Parsons describes the sites in detail and compares them to those of the same time periods in the Teotihuacan Valley and the Valley of Mexico in general

Drawing & the Blind John Miller Kennedy, 1993-01-01 This groundbreaking work explores how children and adults who have been blind since birth can both perceive and draw pictures John M Kennedy a perception psychologist relates how pictures in raised form can be understood by the blind and how untrained blind people can make recognizable sketches of objects situations and events using new methods for raised line drawing According to Kennedy the ability to draw develops in blind people as it does in the sighted His book gives detailed descriptions of his work with the blind includes many pictures by blind children and adults and provides a new theory of visual and tactile perception applicable to both the blind and the sighted to account for his startling findings Kennedy argues that spatial perception is possible through touch as well as through sight and that aspects of perspective are found in pictures by the blind He shows that blind people recognize when pictures of objects are drawn incorrectly According to Kennedy the incorrect features are often deliberate attempts to represent properties of objects that cannot be shown in a picture These metaphors as Kennedy describes them can be interpreted by the blind and the sighted in the same way Kennedy s findings are vitally important for studies in perceptual and cognitive psychology the philosophy of representation and education His conclusions have practical significance as well offering inspiration and guidelines for those who seek to engineer ways to allow blind and visually impaired people to gain access to information only available in graphs figures and pictures
