Interactions between Animals and Humans in Graeco-Roman Antiquity Thorsten Fögen, Edmund V. Thomas, 2017-08-21 The seventeen contributions to this volume written by leading experts show that animals and humans in Graeco Roman antiquity are interconnected on a variety of different levels and that their encounters and interactions often result from their belonging to the same structures networks and communities or at least from finding themselves together in a certain setting context or environment wittingly or unwittingly Papers explore the concrete categories of interaction between animals and humans that can be identified in what contexts they occur and what types of evidence can be productively used to examine the concept of interactions Articles in this volume take into account literary visual and other types of evidence A comprehensive research bibliography is also provided

Cultural Interactions and Social Strategies on the Pontic Shores Jane Hjarl Petersen,2010 In Antiquity the Black Sea region was a meeting point for several different population groups with diverse cultural backgrounds The present monograph takes its point of departure in burial data from four coastal localities in the northern region of the Black Sea The mortuary practices are decoded and interpreted within a framework mainly based on concepts of cultural interaction rather than cultural polarisation Thus the dogma of The Greeks and the Others is challenged and alternative perceptions of interactions between the people in the Black Sea region form the basis of the study The burials are primarily analysed with emphasis on social strategies and cultural diversity Furthermore the Black Sea region is set into a comparative perspective through an outlook on burial customs and mortuary practices in the colonial milieu of contemporary Southern Italy

Variantology Gloria Custance, 2005 Our endeavour is not to explain the history of the media as a consecutive retrospective but to move from reflections about the deep time history of arts and sciences to speculations that reach into the present The contributors to the third volume in the Variantology Series expand our ideas of the interplay between arts technology and science in at least three important ways

- 1 Themes Fireworks as a time based praxis of performance magnetised chess automata paper cuts thermometers radical interventions in the natural landscape by humans and the compass are revealed as areas where discoveries can be made that lead to much broader and richer concepts of what art and media are
- 2 Regions As we move with the authors from Europe to the Far East and back again it becomes absolutely clear that the history of the media cannot be written with only the former industrial metropolises of the world in our sights beginning and ending there
- 3 Time The evolution of the Chinese culture of science and technology takes us into dimensions that add unsuspected energies and historical possibilities to the concept of deep time Brecht s verdict from the 1920s that Chinese civilisation has already forgotten about innovations that the West proudly celebrates as innovations of the Modern Age is given new meaning
