Quinlan, 2016-09-27 Teaching and learning in higher education can evoke strong feelings including confusion anxiety boredom curiosity surprise and exhilaration These emotions affect students learning progress and overall success Teachers emotions affect how they teach and their relationships and communication with students Yet the emotional dimensions of teachers and students experiences are rarely discussed in the context of improving higher education This book addresses that gap offering short evocative case studies to spark conversation among university teachers It challenges readers to reflect on how higher education feels to explore the emotional landscape of courses and programmes they create and consider the emotional effects of messages embedded in various policies and practices Following the student lifecycle from enrolment to reunion each of the main chapters contains 10 to 15 accessible emotionally engaging poems that serve as succinct case studies highlighting how some aspect of learning teaching or development in higher education feels Each chapter also contains an expert scholarly commentary that identifies emergent themes across the cases and establishes connections to theory and practice in higher education The poems as case studies are ideal for use in faculty or educational development workshops or for individual reflection A variety of theoretical perspectives and associated reflection prompts provide lenses for variously interpreting the poems An appendix offers suggestions for structuring case discussions as part of educational development activities The book promotes a person centered discourse giving voice to previously neglected aspects of higher education and reminding us that education is essentially a human endeavor
