The Routledge Companion to Museum

Ethics Janet Marstine, 2012-05-23 Routledge Companion to Museum Ethics is a theoretically informed reconceptualization of museum ethics discourse as a dynamic social practice central to the project of creating change in the museum Through twenty seven chapters by an international and interdisciplinary group of academics and practitioners it explores contemporary museum ethics as an opportunity for growth rather than a burden of compliance The volume represents diverse strands in museum activity from exhibitions to marketing as ethics is embedded in all areas of the museum sector What the contributions share is an understanding of the contingent nature of museum ethics in the twenty first century its relations with complex economic social political and technological forces and its fluid ever shifting sensibility The volume examines contemporary museum ethics through the prism of those disciplines and methods that have shaped it most It argues for a museum ethics discourse defined by social responsibility radical transparency and shared guardianship of heritage And it demonstrates the moral agency of museums the concept that museum ethics is more than the personal and professional ethics of individuals and concerns the capacity of institutions to generate self reflective and activist practice

Mind Helle Juel Jensen, Mads D. Jessen, Niels Johannsen, 2012-05-07 Excavating the Mind deals with the relationship between the material culture of humans i.e. our technologies, arts, and environments and our mental worlds. Emphasizing the close interdependence of mind and matter, the volume resonates with current developments within sociology, psychology, and the cognitive sciences, yet it aims to supplement the focus on modern, predominantly Western societies and individuals with studies of different cultural contexts and processes in the evolutionary and historical past as well as the ethnographic present. With contributions from cognitive and social archaeology as well as anthropology, semiotics, and the history of religion, the book combines well-illustrated case studies covering a wide chronological and geographic span from Neolithic Europe to the present-day South Pacific with incisive discussion of particular theoretical issues in the study of mind and material culture. Excavating the Mind is an original contribution to the multidisciplinary debate on the uniquely human entanglement of complex material cultures and mental worlds.

Queering the Subversive Stitch Joseph McBrinn, 2021-04-08 Queering the Subversive Stitch is the first book to unpick the construction of masculinity through an analysis of how and why men engage with needlework.

The Rise of the Therapeutic Museum Janet Kraynak, 2025-09-30 This book considers how and why respite rooms, emotional support brochures, well-being guides, psychological consultants, and care days are becoming common features in the museum of art. Kraynak poses and answers this question, arguing that under its rightful ambition to decolonize i.e. to rectify past and present inequalities, the museum of the Global North is gradually replacing a commitment to knowledge teaching and learning with a focus upon care, healing, and well-being, the therapeutic. While this transformation might appear on the surface benign, culturally familiar, and politically desirable, the author counters these presumptions, probing the history and implications of the therapeutic museum. Here, curatorial attention shifts away from the art on view and onto the spectator, whom the museum imagines as a precarious psychological subject and primary source of meaning. External forces, new forms of knowledge encounters with difficulty, even an engagement with art, are treated as a potential threat. As a result, the therapeutic museum not only encourages the beholder to turn inward but in so doing deflects attention from or scrutiny of its own practices and systems that perpetuate inequality. Among these are the ongoing legacies of colonialism's epistemic violence, which elevated the knowledge and aesthetic traditions of the Global North while suppressing those of the Global South. In contrast, the book proposes a pluriversal versus universal museum that maintains the political necessity of knowledge and views pedagogy as a path to emancipation. Emphasizing epistemic justice and the moral right to learn during a time when such freedoms are increasingly under attack, the book makes a powerful case for questioning rather than romanticizing the therapeutic museum, which it ultimately reveals to reinforce rather than challenge dominant power. This is an important intervention that is essential reading for researchers and scholars in Art History, Visual Studies, Museum Studies, and Cultural Studies.
