Arc historical fiction featuring agentic females the very popular Scholastic Press historical journal series fictions of war and historical fiction featuring multicultural discourses Wilson observes specific traits in historical fiction written for children most notably how the notion of positive progress into the future is nuanced differently in this literature in which the concept of progress from the past is inextricably linked to the protagonist's potential for agency and the realization of subjectivity The genre consistently manifests a concern with identity construction that in turn informs and influences how a metanarrative of positive progress is played out This book engages in a discussion of the functionality of the past within the genre and offers an interpretative frame for the sifting out of the present from the past in historical fiction for young readers Making History Mine Sarah Cooper, 2009 Built around eight themes examining the role of the individual understanding point of view assessing the impact of rhetoric finding patterns in the past writing analytically connecting current events to historical precedents igniting passion through research and exploring ethics and morals Making History Mine offers young adolescents a window to the wider world This comprehensive volume gives teachers and students a solid framework for exploring and understanding history including how to analyze primary source documents extrapolate themes and detect bias in a historian's argument Back cover Orson Scott Card Edith S.
