Abbott, 2025-03-13 Flatland A Romance of Many Dimensions is a satirical novella that critiques Victorian society through the lens of geometry and dimensional allegory The story is narrated by A Square a mathematician living in the two dimensional world of Flatland The inhabitants of Flatland are geometric figures with social status determined by their regularity and number of sides Women are straight lines relegated to the lowest status and perceived as dangerous due to their ability to become invisible

Flatland Edwin Abbott Abbott, 2020-08-30 Flatland A Romance of Many Dimensions is a literary hybrid It is a math and science based novella that creates a fictional land while at the same time satirizing Victorian culture and introducing theories of space's multi dimensional nature Flatland is a two dimensional world chronicling the adventures of A Square a pseudonym originally given as the author of the book a mathematician who lives there Women are straight lines and are considered the lowest of shapes Men are polygons and the number of sides they have is dependent on their ranking in the social hierarchy Odd and unexpected incidents bring A Square together with numerous other geometric shapes Some of the places he ventures into are Spaceland which has three dimensions Lineland which is one dimensional and Pointland which does not have any dimensions A Square also imagines a land with four dimensions which is considered a subversive concept The actual author of the 1884 book is Edwin Abbott Abbott an English schoolteacher The narrator A Square is a member of the professional caste in society and begins the story leading his life in a two dimensional world That women are but simple line segments and men are polygons with many sides gives the book a symbolic and metaphoric slant right from the start It is New Year's Eve and Square dreams of visiting Lineland a one dimensional world where lustrous points live In the dream he imagines killing the monarch ruling the realm but is unsuccessful The monarch in turn tries to kill Square rather than put up with him After this Square receives a visitor A three dimensional sphere named appropriately A Sphere appears to Square Square does not know what to make of this until he sees the three dimensional Spaceland firsthand It turns out that Sphere appears in Flatland at the beginning of each millennium and teaches a new follower about the concept of a third dimension hoping to one day educate everyone in Flatland From Spaceland they can see the leaders of Flatland as they talk of knowing there is a third dimension and threatening anyone who spreads word of its existence Many witnesses to this announcement are killed or put in prison including B who is the brother of Square At this point in the narrative Square has become open to the idea of additional dimensions He attempts to persuade Sphere that there could be fourth and fifth dimensions and even beyond Sphere does not pursue this line of discussion and returns Square to Flatland Square has another dream In this one Sphere appears to him again this time taking him to Pointland where the point is the only resident and is the universe and the monarch Any communication that takes place Point believes is from his own mind implying that he lacks the ability to imagine anyone but himself Sphere tells Square that there is nothing to be done to save Point from his omniscient view of himself Square comes to realize the ignorance of the Pointland and Lineland monarchs He acknowledges his own ignorance he had to overcome with respect to the existence of higher dimensions He is however not able to try to convince anyone in Flatland that Spaceland does in fact exist because of the rules that were passed prohibiting any talk of other dimensions Eventually he is imprisoned like his brother before him He sees his brother from time to time having been placed in the same prison although in spite of all they have both experienced he cannot convince even his brother of other dimensions Square then writes a book Flatland as a memoir hoping it will preserve the ideas he wants to spread and that it will serve to help future generations see beyond the limits of a two dimensional world Flatland (Annotated) Edwin Abbott,2025-01-23
