Broadcasting In The Third World Promise And Performance:

Broadcasting in the Third World Elihu Katz, Eberhard George Wedell, 1977 Broadcasting has long been considered one of the keys to modernization in the developing world. Able to leap the triple barrier of distance, illiteracy and apathy, it was seen as a crucial element in the development of new nations. Recently, however, these expectations have been disappointed by broadcasting's failures to reach the rural masses and the urban unemployed. Broadcasting has also come under attack as serious questions have been raised about its uncritical importation of western culture. Now in Broadcasting in the Third World, Elihu Katz and George Wedell offer the first complete coverage of the problems and promises of broadcasting in the third world. Their findings, often controversial and always illuminating, will be of considerable value to sociologists, political scientists, communications specialists and students of development. Broadcasting in the Third World is based on field research in eleven developing countries: Algeria, Brazil, Cyprus, Indonesia, Iran, Nigeria, Peru, Senegal, Singapore, Tanzania and Thailand, and secondary source material from a further eighty countries. In looking at the role of broadcasting in national development, the authors focus on three areas of promise: national integration, socio-economic development and cultural continuity and change. They describe the ways in which the technology and content of broadcasting have been transferred from the developed west to the third world and then go on to show that western broadcasting must be adapted to suit the specific political, economic and social structures of each developing country. The authors conclude with a series of recommendations which challenge most of the assumptions upon which the principles and practices of broadcasting are based. Well researched and extensively documented, it will challenge policy makers and provide important data for researchers.

Broadcasting in the Third World Elihu Katz, 1980 International Media Research John R. Corner, Philip Schlesinger, Professor Philip R. Schlesinger, Roger Silverstone, 2004-01-14 International Media Research offers a rigorous and critical review of key approaches and concerns that have recently defined the field of media research. In this clearly argued collection of essays, the contributors analyze and reflect upon dominant themes and debates that have made media research an increasingly important element of cultural theory. The volume begins with a critical evaluation of the work of the leading media scholar Elihu Katz and continues with an exploration of the relationship between media studies and adjacent disciplines: cultural studies and gender and sexuality. Contributors drawn from Britain, America, Canada and Belgium consider the relationships between media research and media policy in different national and international contexts. Focusing on the European Union, East Central Europe, North America and Latin America, chapters assess the impact of social, economic and political circumstances on policy debates and the shaping of the research agenda. The final chapter adopts a transatlantic perspective in tracing and analysing the history of the media's role in reporting war. Broadcasting on the Short Waves, 1945 to Today Jerome S. Berg, 2008-10-24 Shortwave broadcasting originated in the 1920s when stations used the new technology to increase their range in order to serve foreign audiences and reach parts of their own country not easily otherwise covered The early days of shortwave radio were covered in On the Short Waves 1923 1945 Broadcast Listening in the Pioneer Days of Radio published by McFarland in 1999 paperback 2007 Then two companion volumes were published picking up the story after World War II They were Listening on the Short Waves 1945 to Today McFarland 2008 paperback 2010 which focuses on the shortwave listening community and the present Broadcasting title about the stations themselves and their environment The heart of the book is a detailed year by year account of the shortwave bands in each year from 1945 to 2008 It reviews what American listeners were hearing on the international and domestic shortwave bands describes the arrivals and departures of stations and recounts important events The book describes the several categories of broadcasters international domestic private religious clandestine and pirate It explains the impact of relay stations frequency management and jamming It also addresses the considerable changes in shortwave broadcasting since the end of the Cold War The book is richly illustrated and indexed and features a bibliography and extensive notes State, 1982 World Broadcasting Systems Sydney W. Head, 1985 Cultural Sociology of the Middle East, Asia, and Africa Andrea L. Stanton, 2012 In our age of globalization and multiculturalism it has never been more important to understand and appreciate all cultures across the world The four volumes take a step forward in this endeavour by presenting concise information on those regions least well known to students across Europe the Middle East Asia and Africa The volumes convey what daily life is like for people in these selected regions Entries will aid readers in understanding the importance of cultural sociology to appreciate the effects of cultural forces around the world and to learn the history of countries and cultures within these important regions Key Features Topics are explored within historical context in three broad historical periods prehistory to 1250 1250 to 1920 and 1920 to the present One volume each is devoted to the regions of the Middle East and Africa and then one volume to East and Southeast Asia and a final volume to West Central and South Asia The volumes include extensive use of photographs and maps to explain cultural and geographic content Each volume has its own volume editor with expertise in that particular region Key Themes Arts Culture and Science People Society and Dynasties Religion and Law Family and Daily Life Conflicts and Wars Politics and Government Health and Education Economy Trade and Industry National Geography and History Topics in Third World Mass Communications John A.
