Bronze Age Migrations in the Aegean; Archaeological and Linguistic Problems in Greek Prehistory R. A. Crossland, Ann Birchall, 1973 Bronze Age Migrations in the Aegean Ronald A. Crossland, Ann Birchall, 1974 The Bronze Age in Europe J. M. Coles, A. F. Harding, 2014-10-30 This book provides an account of the development of European culture and society during the Bronze Age the time span between c 2000 and 700 BC It was a period of remarkable innovation seen for instance in the development and growth of metallurgy as a major industry the spread of trading contacts the origins of urbanism and the beginnings of social stratification The study is divided chronologically into two the earlier and later Bronze Age giving a clear picture of the nature of the radical changes which occurred in the period as a whole The geographical area covered from the Atlantic shores across Europe into the Soviet Union and from northern Scandinavia to the Mediterranean is too vast to be taken as one unit and has been broken down into five regions each is discussed in terms of settlement form burial practices ritual and religious sites material culture economic and social background and trading patterns The book describes and develops common themes that link together the different areas and cultural groups rather than taking the typographical approach often adopted by Bronze Age specialists and uses the results of radiocarbon dating to establish an objective chronology for the period The text is generously illustrated and fully documented with radiocarbon dating tables and extensive bibliography Our understanding of Bronze Age Europe is still increasing but no other book of this scope had been written before this in 1979 It is a major study of its time of interest to anyone looking beyond popular accounts of the day

Migration Myths and the End of the Bronze Age in the Eastern Mediterranean A. Bernard Knapp,2021-04-22 This Element looks critically at migration scenarios proposed for the end of the Bronze Age in the eastern Mediterranean After presenting some historical background to the development of migration studies including types and definitions of migration as well as some of its possible material correlates I consider how we go about studying human mobility and issues regarding ethnicity There follows a detailed and critical examination of the history of research related to migration and ethnicity in the southern Levant at the end of the Late Bronze Age ca 1200 BC considering both migrationist and anti migrationist views I then present and critique recent studies on climatic and related issues as well as the current state of evidence from palaeogenetics and strontium isotope analyses The conclusion attempts to look anew at this enigmatic period of transformation and social change of mobility and connectivity alongside the hybridised practices of social actors The Journal of Indo-European Studies ,1984
