Black Mamba vs. Blue-Ringed Octopus Janey Levy,2021-07-15 The black mamba and the blue ringed octopus are among Earth s most venomous animals Beyond that they have little in common One is known for its great size the other is adorably small They d never meet in real life because one lives on land and the other dwells in the ocean but imagine if they did meet What would the battle look like Who might win This engaging volume compares the animals qualities to see who might emerge victorious Striking images and amazing statistics enhance the narrative as it addresses important science concepts

Cephalopods of the world. Genealogy of Popular Science Jesús Muñoz Morcillo,Caroline Y. Robertson-von Trotha,2020-10-27 Despite the efforts of modern scholars to explain the origins of science communication as a social rhetorical and aesthetic phenomenon most researchers approach the popularization of science from the perspective of present issues thus ignoring its historical roots in classical culture along with its continuities disruptions and transformations This volume fills this research gap with a genealogically reflected introduction into the popularization of science as a recurrent cultural technique The category popular science is elucidated in interdisciplinary and diachronic dialogue discussing case studies from all historical periods Classicists archaeologists medievalists art historians sociologists and historians of science provide the first diachronic and multi layered approach to the rhetoric aesthetics and societal conditions that have shaped the dissemination and reception of scientific knowledge

Octopus's Garden Benjamin T. Jenkins,2023-07-10 As Southern California recovered from the collapse of the cattle industry in the 1860s the arrival of railroads attacked by newspapers as the greedy octopus and the expansion of citrus agriculture transformed the struggling region into a vast idealized and prosperous garden New groves of the latest citrus varieties and new towns like Riverside quickly grew directly along the tracks of transcontinental railroads The influx of capital industrial technology and workers especially people of color energized Southern California and tied it more closely to the economy and culture of the United States than ever before Benjamin Jenkins s Octopus s Garden argues that citrus agriculture and railroads together shaped the economy landscape labor systems and popular image of Southern California Orange and lemon growing boomed in the 1870s and 1880s while railroads linked the region to markets across North America and ended centuries of geographic isolation for the West Coast Railroads competed over the shipment of citrus fruits from multiple counties engulfed by the orange empire resulting in an extensive rail network that generated lucrative returns for grove owners and railroad businessmen in Southern California from the 1890s to the 1950s While investment from white Americans particularly wealthy New Englanders formed the financial backbone of the Octopus s Garden citrus and railroads would not have thrived in Southern California without the labor of people of color Many workers of color took advantage of the commercial developments offered by railroads and citrus to economically advance their families and communities however these people also suffered greatly under the constant realities of bodily harm low wages and political and social exclusion Promoters of the railroads and citrus cooperatives touted California as paradise for white Americans and minimized the roles of non white laborers by stereotyping them in advertisements and publications These practices fostered conceptions of California s racial hierarchy by praising privileged whites and maligning the workers who made them prosper The Octopus s Garden continues to shape Southern Californians understanding of their past In bringing together multiple storylines Jenkins provides a complex and fresh perspective on the impact of citrus agriculturalists and railroad companies in Southern Californian history Huhito Fables Vol.25 □□-Huhito, Warning This fable may affect children s primary education It should be purchased by a sensible adult over 18 years old And please make your own version of the story and read it to your children Catalog of works A Slow Moving Starfish Octopus with extended limbs Squid Ink and Shark A life full of fun Feeling of Discontent Sensitive Person A person with individuality My own pace and the pace of the world Whereabouts of Responsibility Suffering Crying Laughing Doctor s Diagnosis Part 1 Making an effort Those who aim higher Person with a problem Those who do not admit mistakes Deer and Arrowhead Centipede Cockroach and Human Shark and flounder Freshness of fish Goby and Tiger pistol shrimp Moray eels in the sea and Small fish in the tide pool Doctor s Diagnosis Part 2 Curiosity The One Who Changes Himself Easy Life A world full of Lies Helping Someone Making Allies Change of Virtues Heaven and Hell Wild Rabbit and Fox Stop and Rest Doctor s Diagnosis Part 3 Fox and Raccoon dog Wild Boar and Crocodile Conditions for Happiness The Little Mouse Question The Fallen Lion Those who believe that one can do it Life of Hope Awakening of Something The one who makes thoughts come true Those who is strict with himself Doctor s Diagnosis Part 4 Live by Intuition Those who pursue the dreams Those who will be leader Those who borrow from friends Crocodile and Hippo Efficient Study Giraffe and Mouse Lion and Hedgehog Dolphin Teeth Horse and Wolf Doctor s Diagnosis Part 5 Studies in Life and Sense Andrew Wilson,1887 Gentleman's Magazine and Historical Review ,1883 The Gentleman s magazine section is a digest of selections from the weekly press the Trader s monthly intelligencer section consists of news foreign and domestic vital statistics a register of the month s new publications and a calendar of forthcoming trade fairs The Gentleman's Magazine ... ,1883 The Will Eisner Companion N.
