Carry On Writing

William Henry Morton

Carry On Writing:

Writing Abroad Peter Chilson, Joanne B. Mulcahy, 2017-10-13 Tell me all about your trip It s a request that follows travelers as they head out into the world and one of the first things they hear when they return When we leave our homes to explore the wider world we feel compelled to capture the experiences and bring the story home But for those who don t think of themselves as writers putting experiences into words can be more stressful than inspirational Writing Abroad is meant for travelers of all backgrounds and writing levels a student embarking on overseas study a retiree realizing a dream of seeing China a Peace Corps worker in Kenya All can benefit from documenting their adventures whether on paper or online Through practical advice and adaptable exercises this guide will help travelers hone their observational skills conduct research and interviews choose an appropriate literary form and incorporate photos and videos into their writing Writing about travel is more than just safeguarding memories it can transform experiences and tease out new realizations With Writing Abroad travelers will be able to deepen their understanding of other cultures and write about that new awareness in clear and vivid prose Carry On; a Magazine on the Reconstruction of Disabled Soldiers and Sailors ,1918 Building Writing Center Assessments That Matter Ellen Schendel, William J. Macauley, 2012-10-16 No less than other divisions of the college or university contemporary writing centers find themselves within a galaxy of competing questions and demands that relate to assessment questions and demands that usually embed priorities from outside the purview of the writing center itself Writing centers are used to certain kinds of assessment both quantitative and qualitative but are often unprepared to address larger institutional or societal issues In Building Writing Center Assessments that Matter Schendel and Macauley start from the kinds of assessment strengths already in place in writing centers and they build a framework that can help writing centers satisfy local needs and put them in useful dialogue with the larger needs of their institutions while staying rooted in writing assessment theory The authors begin from the position that tutoring writers is already an assessment activity and that good assessment practice rooted in the work of Adler Kassner O Neill Moore and Huot already reflects the values of writing center theory and practice They offer examples of assessments developed in local contexts and of how assessment data built within those contexts can powerfully inform decisions and shape the futures of local writing centers With additional contributions by Neal Lerner Brian Huot and Nicole Caswell and with a strong commitment to honoring on site local needs the volume does not advocate a one size fits all answer But like the modeling often used in a writing consultation examples here illustrate how important assessment principles have been applied in a range of local contexts Ultimately Building Writing Assessments that Matter describes a theory stance toward assessment for writing centers that honors the uniqueness of the writing center context and examples of assessment in action that are concrete manageable portable and adaptable The Manufacture of Pulp and Paper Joint Executive Committee of the Vocational Education Committees of the Pulp and Paper Industry of the United States and Canada, 1921 Representations of Writing Materials on Roman Funerary Monuments Tibor

Grüll,2023-10-27 Ancient funerary reliefs are full of representations of writing materials and instruments the interpretation of which can help us better understand the phenomenon of ancient literacy The eight studies in this volume enrich our knowledge of Roman writing with many new aspects and detailed observations Writing and Desire Jonathan

Alexander,2023-06-06 Writing and Desire is a sustained multmovement exploration of how writers particularly queer writers think and feel through desire as central to their writing practice In a time of political social global and ecological unrest how might we understand desire the desire for things to be different the desire for a better world as a crucial dimension of contemporary human experience What might such a recentering of desire offer us personally and politically And how is writing itself as one of the primary ways through which we express and explore ourselves central to the expression and exploration of desire Drawing on recent theoretical work in queer theory and the new materialism Jonathan Alexander studies a range of queer and trans writers and artists who center desire in their practice and argues that conceptualizing writing as desire allows us to reexperience both writing and our world as saturated with our dreams and wishes for change In a book both elegant and unsettling and by turns personal analytic and experimental Alexander challenges us and himself to think about desire and writing as the deepest manifestation of our hopes for the future The Mother Tongue: Lessons in speaking, reading and writing English, by S. L. Arnold and G. L. Kittredge ,1900 What Writing Does and How It Does It Charles Bazerman,Paul Prior,2003-12-08 In What Writing Does and How It Does It editors Charles Bazerman and Paul Prior offer a sophisticated introduction to methods for understanding studying and analyzing texts and writing practices This volume addresses a variety of approaches to analyzing texts and considers the processes of writing exploring textual practices and their contexts and examining what texts do and how texts mean rather than what they mean Included are traditional modes of analysis rhetorical literary linguistic as well as newer modes such as text and talk genre and activity analysis and intertextual analysis The chapters have been developed to provide answers to a specified set of questions with each one offering a preview of the chapter s content and purpose an introduction to basic concepts referring to key theoretical and research studies in the area details on the types of data and questions for which the analysis is best used examples from a wide ranging group of texts including educational materials student writing published literature and online and electronic media one or more applied analyses with a clear statement of procedures for analysis and illustrations of a particular sample of data and a brief summary suggestions for additional readings and a set of activities The side by side comparison of methods allows the reader to see the multi dimensionality of writing facilitating selection of the best method for a particular research question The volume contributors are experts from linguistics communication studies rhetoric literary analysis document design sociolinguistics education ethnography and cultural psychology and each utilizes a specific mode of text analysis With its broad range of methodological examples What Writing Does and How It Does It is a unique and invaluable resource for advanced undergraduate and graduate students and for researchers in education composition ESL
