Broken Blossoms:

Romance and the Yellow Peril Gina Marchetti, 1994-02-15 Hollywood films about Asians and interracial sexuality are the focus of Gina Marchetti's provocative new work. While miscegenation might seem an unlikely theme for Hollywood, Marchetti shows how fantasy dramas of interracial rape, lynching, tragic love, and model marriage are powerfully evident in American cinema. The author begins with a discussion of D. W. Griffith's Broken Blossoms, then considers later films such as Shanghai Express, Madame Butterfly, and the recurring geisha movies. She also includes some fascinating forgotten films that have been overlooked by critics until now. Marchetti brings the theoretical perspective of recent writing on race, ethnicity, and gender to her analyses of film and television and argues persuasively that these media help to perpetuate social and racial inequality in America. Noting how social norms and taboos have been simultaneously set and broken by Hollywood filmmakers, she discusses the orientalist tensions underlying the construction of American cultural identity. Her book will be certain to interest readers in film, Asian women's, and cultural studies.

Lillian Gish Stuart Oderman, 2000 On March 12, 1993, Lillian Gish's memorial service was attended by a host of celebrities whose lives had been touched by her long and remarkable career. From her first film An Unseen Enemy (1912) to her last The Whales of August (1987), Lillian Gish personified film. With a theatrical career spanning nearly 100 years, Gish saw motion pictures evolve from flickers to blockbusters. Almost always playing someone who needed to be rescued or protected, her trademark delicacy and vulnerability were, however, only part of her persona. She was a strong and complex woman whose painful childhood taught her frugality, love for her mother and her sister Dorothy, and a distrust of men. In this, her most complete biography, the author who was her friend chronicles the hardships, heartaches, and fierce determination that shaped her from her days as a fatherless child to those as head of her family and on to a time when she became nearly a legend. Featuring rare photographs and intimate recollections of Lillian, Dorothy, and other important figures, the biography is helpful in understanding film history as well as one of its most beautiful and important figures.

Color, Hair, and Bone Linden Lewis, Glyne A. Griffith, Elizabeth Crespo Kebler, 2008 These essays explore various critical dimensions of race from a sociological, anthropological, and literary perspective. They engage with history, either textually, materially, or with respect to identity, in an effort to demonstrate that these discourses.

Mists of Regret Dudley Andrew, 1995-02-26 An examination of pre-World War II French cinema which analyzes the works of such directors as Renoir, Gremillon, and Chenal in order to explain why the French were first to give maturity to the sound film. The study also describes the importance of these films in the context of French culture.

Derek Jarman and Lyric Film Steven Dillon, 2004-04-01 Derek Jarman was the most important independent filmmaker in England during the 1980s. Using emblems and symbols in associative contexts rather than conventional cause and effect narrative, he created films noteworthy for their lyricism and poetic feeling and for their exploration of the gay experience. His style of filmmaking also links Jarman with other prominent directors of lyric film, including Pier Paolo Pasolini, Andrei Tarkovsky, Jean Cocteau, and Jean Genet. This pathfinding book places Derek Jarman in the tradition of lyric film and offers incisive readings of all eleven of his feature length films from Sebastiane to Blue Steven Dillon looks at Jarman and other directors working in a similar vein to establish how lyric films are composed through the use of visual imagery and actual poetry He then traces Jarman's use of imagery notably mirrors and the sea in his films and discusses in detail the relationship between cinematic representations and sexual identity This insightful reading of Jarman's work helps us better understand how films such as The Last of England and The Garden can be said to cohere and mean without being reduced to clear messages Above all Dillon's book reveals how truly beautiful and brilliant Jarman's movies are

Life, 1922 Thomas Burke's Dark Chinoiserie Anne Veronica Witchard, 2009 Focusing on Thomas Burke's bestselling collection of short stories Limehouse Nights 1916 Anne Witchard's interdisciplinary book contextualises the burgeoning cult of Chinatown in turn of the century London Witchard shows that Burke's immensely popular Chinatown stories destabilize social orthodoxies in highly complex ways forcing us to rethink his influence on both sides of the Atlantic She shows that China and chinoiserie served as mirrors that reveal the disquietudes of western art and culture
