Budayeen Nights:

Budayeen Nights George Alec Effinger, 2003 These nine tales are set in Budayeen the walled city in the sand a city of dark shadows and even darker inhabitants where a Raymond Chandleresque vision has been created hardboiled noir futuristic but with a twist The sights smells and denizens of Budayeen are brought to life from the city s sordid decadent underbelly to the glamorous excesses of the sex industry

Off the Main Sequence Tom Easton, 2006-10-01 Tom Easton has served as the monthly book review columnist for Analog Science Fiction for almost three decades having contributed during that span many hundreds of columns and over a million words of penetrating criticism on the best literature that science fiction has to offer His reviews have been celebrated for their wit humor readability knowledge and incisiveness His love of literature particularly fantastic literature is everywhere evident in his essays Easton has ever been willing to cover small presses obscure authors and unusual publications being the only major critic in the field to do so on a regular basis He seems to delight in finding the rare gem among the backwaters of the publishing field A reviewer s job he says is not to judge books for the ages but to tell readers enough about a book to give them some idea of whether they would enjoy it And this he does admirably whether he s discussing the works of the great writers in the field or touching upon the least amongst them This companion volume to Periodic Stars Borgo Wildside collects another 250 of Easton s best reviews from the last fifteen years of The Reference Library No one does it better and no other guide provides such lengthy or discerning commentary on the best SF works of recent times Complete with Introduction and detailed Index

A Thousand Deaths George Alec Effinger, 2014-04-01 Science fiction stories that offer a poignant glimpse into the author s psyche this bittersweet collection is one to be cherished Publishers Weekly When we first meet Courane he must face down TECT the self aware computer that has come to control Earth and its colonial planets Exiled to Planet D Courane races to cure the debilitating disease that attacks each of the planet s residents even as his own memory begins to fade Unfortunately his only source of information about the illness is TECT itself and the computer s agenda doesn t seem to line up with Courane s In the seven other stories contained in A Thousand Deaths Courane begins to blur reality and fiction as Effinger expertly plays with narrative conventions However these are not simply the whims of a science fiction writer they are the frameworks the Nebula and Hugo Award nominated author uses to answer questions about existence no one else even thought to ask While George Alec Effinger s Budayeen novel When Gravity Fails is perhaps his most famous work his lesser known novel The Wolves of Memory remained his favorite In it he introduced readers to Sandor Courane an everyman and Effinger stand in who struggles as he swims against the currents of fate In life and in his multiple deaths Sandor Courane serves as the unifying force in this collection of Effinger's stories starting with The Wolves of Memory and getting ever more clever and off the wall from there
