Case Studies In Depression:

How to Fight Depression John F. Walsh, John F. Walsh M.S., Joyce Zborower, 2013-10 There are nine 9 psychological case studies of real people dealing with depression in this 37 page booklet Each one shows how unique the consequences of this debilitating condition can be on one's life The author of these studies John F. Walsh M.S. 1937-2012 spent the better part of his life 45 years working as a crisis intervention mental health professional within various mental health hospitals Jack had a special knack for figuring out what was wrong and helping people deal with their circumstances The final write up in this collection of case studies lays out his ideas for how you can best help your friend or loved one Don't get so wrapped up in their problems that you neglect taking care of yourself Case Studies in Child and Adolescent Mental Health M. S. Thambirajah, 2007 A unique source of material suitable for all practitioners this title provides detailed descriptions of common cases seen in specialist CAMHS including depression learning disabilities Asperger's syndrome and anorexia

Case Studies Within Psychotherapy Trials Daniel B. Fishman, Stanley B. Messer, D. J. A. Edwards, Frank M. Dattilio, 2017 Much has been written about the basic incompatibility of the dominant quantitative research model in psychotherapy and the qualitative preferences of the practitioner community providing psychotherapy Researchers and clinicians are at odds over the most valuable type of knowledge needed that emerging from quantitative experimental research versus that from qualitative case based practice respectively Recently a number of emerging research methods have attempted to bridge and integrate these two approaches Case Studies within Psychotherapy Trials is one such effort and significantly furthers the synergy between them The volume provides a comprehensive illustration of the cases within trials CWT model of research Quantitative findings from four randomized clinical trials RCT are synthesized with qualitative and quantitative findings from systematic case studies of successful and unsuccessful clients representatively drawn from each RCT The book opens with the history of dialectic and political controversy in psychotherapy research and recent initiatives to bridge the differing perspectives The RCT and case study projects follow each commented on by outside experts In the final chapter the editors compare and contrast the separate projects and draw insightful impactful conclusions By bringing together quantitative natural scientific perspectives on research and qualitative interpretative understandings and strategies the chapter authors demonstrate how practitioners can be meaningfully included in future psychotherapy research This book will be of great interest to psychotherapy researchers and practitioners and those interested in research methods in the behavioral sciences more generally Case Studies in Depression David McMillin, 1997 Case Studies in Clinical Psychological Science William O'Donohue, Scott O. Lilienfeld, 2013-01-29 In the past few decades clinical science has emerged as a prominent model for training and practice in clinical psychology This model emphasizes evidence derived from high quality research and is consistent with the increasingly influential evidence based movement in medicine which is a vital step toward making psychotherapy more effective efficient and safe Despite this trend much current psychological practice is not evidence based moreover there is a marked dearth of resources available to train students and assist practitioners with the challenging goal of translating science into practice Case Studies in Clinical Psychological Science demonstrates in detail how the clinical science model can be applied to actual cases Edited by Professors William O Donohue and Scott O Lilienfeld this book s unique structure presents dialogues between leading clinical researchers regarding the treatment of a wide variety of psychological problems from depression and Alzheimer s disease to Panic Disorder and chronic pain Chapters describe what evidence based practice consists of for various clinical problems and are followed by commentary sections in which other leading clinical researchers analyze the case at hand pointing out additional assessment and treatment options and controversial issues The chapter authors then reply to the commentary in response sections By examining the application of scientifically based interventions to actual cases and modeling thoughtful and collegial discussion among prominent clinical researchers Case Studies in Clinical Psychological Science will assist students practitioners and clinical researchers with the crucial task of applying research evidence to psychotherapy and bridging the gap between science and practice

Police Suicide Richard Armitage,2017-06-21 This text makes an informed contribution to the under researched subject of police suicide by offering an analysis of UK case studies of officers and staff who either have completed suicide or experienced suicide ideation The text then examines current and potential intervention measures and support mechanisms Designed for criminal justice professionals and affected laypeople including the families of those in police service Police Suicide is a crucial text for any who have an interest in the holistic and psychological welfare of police officers and staff

Case Studies on Women's Experiences with Depression Deborah Pryor,1997 Case Studies in Emotion-focused Treatment of Depression Jeanne C. Watson,Rhonda N. Goldman,Leslie S. Greenberg,2007 In this book the authors offer a behind closed doors look at brief emotion focused therapy EFT in the treatment of depression capturing the state of the art of this important and widely used therapy Six in depth case studiethree of which result in a good outcome and three in a poor outcomeexemplify the principles of EFT and show how treatment progresses The six clients depicted vary widely in their background personalities and beliefs about the roots of their depression vividly demonstrating the utility of EFT across a range of circumstances Meticulous session by session descriptions of the therapy process include extensive dialogue and postsession evaluations using a variety of objective process measures

Changing Roles for a New Psychotherapy John G. Miller,2013 In this text readers are taken beyond the standard medical model of diagnosis treatment by drawing on the roles of other professions Miller examines 11 different occupations and explores what each field has to offer to psychotherapy to help enhance therapeutic possibilities

Case Studies in Mental Health Treatment Robert Kalina,2021-05-13 The key aims of this text are to illustrate the use of various types of mental health treatments and to provide in depth examples of common psychological disorders supported by case studies The 34 journal articles in this book authored by practicing psychotherapists psychiatrists psychoanalysts and counselors describe the treatment of individual clients In most cases the authors discuss a client's psychological problem, the treatment used with the client, and the outcome. This book is designed for use in courses in clinical counseling and abnormal psychology. Each article is followed by 1) a list of psychological terms for classroom discussion and 2) questions that call for students' opinions on various aspects of the case.

Case Studies in Abnormal Psychology Thomas F. Oltmanns, John M. Neale, Gerald C. Davison, 1999. Connect the Theory to Real Human Stories. Case Studies in Abnormal Psychology takes mental disorders from the realm of theory into the complex reality of human lives. In all you'll find 22 in-depth cases that focus on symptoms, the client's history, treatment, and the outcome. These cases illustrate a variety of problems including mood disorders, anxiety disorders, schizophrenia, personality disorders, and various disorders of childhood and aging. They also allow students to see how theories in the field can be applied to real-life problems.

Case Studies in Abnormal Psychology 5e Provides detailed descriptions and examples of a range of clinical problems. Illustrates the many ways in which these problems can be viewed and treated. Discusses the evidence concerning epidemiology, etiology, and treatment of the disorders in question. Includes 10 to 15 year follow-ups for some patients describing their response to treatment and long-term social adjustment. Features a completely new case of bulimia nervosa treated by cognitive behavior therapy in group format. How the Case Studies are Structured: Each case is presented in depth with a full chapter devoted to each patient. Many cases include excerpts of dialog from therapy interviews. Each case is compared with DSM-IV diagnostic criteria for relevant disorders. Some treatment failures are presented as well as successes. New discussions are provided concerning gender-related issues such as the impact of rape and sexual abuse as well as relational distress and depression. All cases end with a discussion of etiology and treatment that illustrates the application of research to individual clients' problems and alerts readers to important gaps in our knowledge of abnormal psychology.

Tufts College Studies, 1914    Abstracts, 1977    Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry, 1928    A Casebook of Psychotherapy Integration George Stricker, Jerold R. Gold, 2006. In A Casebook of Psychotherapy Integration editors George Stricker and Jerry Gold bring together a group of master therapists, leaders in their fields, to demonstrate how they successfully apply their own integrative approaches. Compelling case examples written in accessible and engaging language illustrate the various shapes that integration may take. After briefly introducing the theoretical model from which they work, the therapists describe not only how they intervened in each case but also how they thought about the case at critical decision points throughout the therapy. The cases bring to life many contemporary issues and provide opportunities for both experienced and novice therapists to hone their sensitivities and skills with a diverse range of clients.
