Confessions Of Felix Krull Confidence M:

Romanticism, Origins, and the History of Heredity Christine Lehleiter, 2014-10-30 At the turn of the eighteenth century selfhood was understood as a tabularasa to be imprinted in the course of an individual's life By the middle of the nineteenth century however the individual had become defined as determined by heredity already from birth Examining novels by Goethe Jean Paul and E T A Hoffmann studies on plant hybridization treatises on animal breeding and anatomical collections Romanticism Origins and the History of Heredity delineates how romantic authors imagined the ramifications of emerging notions of heredity for the conceptualization of selfhood Focusing on three fields of inquiry inbreeding and incest cross breeding and bastardization evolution and autopoiesis Christine Lehleiter proposes that the notion of selfhood for which Romanticism has become known was not threatened by considerations of determinism and evolution but was in fact already a result of these very considerations Romanticism Origins and the History of Heredity will be of interest for literary scholars historians of science and all readers fascinated by the long duration of subjectivity and evolutionary thought Artificial I's Eric Downing, 2013-02-18 This study explores three works in which the protagonist undertakes to fashion a literary artwork out of himself Ovid's Ars Amatoria Kierkegaard's Diary of the Seducer and Thomas Mann's Felix Krull For each work particular attention is paid to the self-conscious interplay between the author's project of book making and the character's project of self making as well as to the effect of changing notions of self identity on the protagonist's attempt at life as literature For Felix Krull this includes a sustained analysis of Mann's incorporation and problematization of various Nietzschean models of aesthetics reality and self identity In Ovid and Kierkegaard this study also considers a related project the attempt to fashion a literary artwork out of another namely out of a woman Thomas Mann Studies, Volume 2 Klaus W. Jonas, Ilse B. Jonas, 2016-11-11 Seldom if ever has there lived in the United States a foreign born writer who has won such universal acclaim and made such an impact on the American literary scene as Thomas Mann Not only have Mann's works with very few exceptions been translated but he is also one of the most eagerly collected of all modern authors This volume will serve any student of literature or collector who is anxious to locate materials on Thomas Mann Thomas Mann Studies Volume II is intended first of all as the bibliographical record for the period from 1954 to 1965 Since the death of Mann in 1955 a vast amount of material has been published about the man and his work This extraordinary book lists almost four thousand items of criticism about the novelist which are not to be found in any previous bibliography By far the majority of the items are in German followed by a large number in English French Italian and Swedish Other languages represented include Japanese Dutch Spanish Romanian Danish Polish and Russian Achieving its primary purpose of facilitating research in the rapidly growing area of Thomas Mann studies throughout the world this book forms the complete record of critical secondary literature about Mann published as well as unpublished through 1965 It also contains a comprehensive chapter on Mann's manuscripts describing the public and private collections in which his papers are now preserved A Gorgon's Mask Lewis

A. Lawson, 2005 The thesis of A Gorgon's mask The Mother in Thomas Mann's Fiction depends upon three psychoanalytic concepts Freud's early work on the relationship between the infant and its mother and on the psychology of artistic creation Annie Reich's analysis of the grotesque comic sublimation and Edmund Bergler's analysis of writer's block Mann's crisis of sexual anxiety in late adolescence is presented as the defining moment for his entire artistic life In the throes of that crisis he included a sketch of a female as Gorgon in a book that would not escape his mother's notice But to defend himself from being overcome by the Gorgon mother's stare he employed the grotesque comic sublimation hiding the mother figure behind fictional characters physically attractive but psychologically repellent all the while couching his fiction in an ironic tone that evoked humor however lacking in humor the subtext might be In this manner he could deny to himself that the mother figure always lurked in his work and by that denial deny that he was a victim of oral regression For as Edmund Bergler argues the creative writer who acknowledges his oral dependency will inevitably succumb to writer's block Mann's late work reveals that his defense against the Gorgon is crumbling In Doctor Faustus Mann portrays Adrian Leverkühn as ultimately the victim of oral regression but the fact that Mann was able to complete the novel despite severe physical illness and psychological distress demonstrates that he himself was still holding writer's block at bay In Confessions of Felix Krull Confidence Man a narrative that he had abandoned forty years before Mann was finally forced to acknowledge that he was depleted of creative vitality but not of his capacity for irony brilliantly couching the victorious return of the repressed in ambiguity This study will be of interest to general readers who enjoy Mann's narrative art to students of Mann's work especially its psychological and mythological aspects and to students of the psychology of artistic creativity Literary Impostors Rosmarin

Heidenreich, 2018-07-30 In the first half of the twentieth century a number of Canadian authors were revealed to have faked the identities that made them famous What is extraordinary about these writers is that they actually became in everyday life characters they had themselves invented Many of their works were simultaneously fictional and autobiographical reflecting the duality of their identities In Literary Impostors Rosmarin Heidenreich tells the intriguing stories both the true and the fabricated versions of six Canadian authors who obliterated their pasts and re-invented themselves Grey Owl was in fact an Englishman named Archie Belaney Will James the cowboy writer from the American West was the Quebec born francophone Ernest Dufault the prairie novelist Frederick Philip Grove turned out to be the German writer and translator Felix Paul Greve Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance Onoto Watanna and Sui Sin Far were the chosen identities of three mixed race writers whose given names were respectively Sylvester Long Winnifred Eaton and Edith Eaton Heidenreich argues that their imposture in some cases not discovered until long after their deaths was not fraudulent in the usual sense these writers forged new identities to become who they felt they really were In an age of proliferating cyber identities and controversial claims to ancestry Literary Impostors raises timely questions involving race migrancy and gender to illustrate the porousness of the line that is often drawn between an author's biography and the fiction he or she produces Realist Fiction and the Strolling Spectator (Routledge Revivals) John Rignall, 2016-01-29 The classic realist text has long been derided by post-structuralist critics as an unsophisticated and reactionary form. In this study, first published in 1992, John Rignall makes a powerful case for the rehabilitation of realism as a self-aware and reflexive genre. Using the novels of Scott, Balzac, Dickens, George Eliot, Flaubert, James Ford, and Conrad, Rignall argues for an understanding of realism through the recurrent figure of the flâneur. The flâneur is the strolling spectator whose problematic vision, both of and in the novel, makes him the representative figure of the realist text. A significant contribution to the field, this title will be of particular view to students of realism, literary theory, and comparative literature.

Processes of Transposition, 2015-06-29 The essays collected in this book focus on the multi-faceted relationship between German/Austrian literature and the cinema screen. Scholars from Ireland, Great Britain, Germany, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Portugal, USA, and Canada present critical readings of a wide range of transpositions of German language texts to film, while also considering the impact of cinema on German literature, exploring intertextualities as well as intermedialities. The forum of discussion thus created encompasses cinematic narratives based on Goethe's Faust, Kleist's Marquise of O, Kubrick's film version of Schnitzler's Dream Story, and Caroline Link's Oscar-winning adaptation of Stefanie Zweig's novel Nowhere in Africa. The wide-ranging analyses of the complex interaction between literature and film presented here focus on literary works by Anna Seghers, Hans Magnus Enzensberger, Nicola Ghislandi, G.ünter Grass, Heinrich Böll, Elfriede Jelinek, Rolf Dieter Brinkmann, Erich Hackl, Thomas Brussig, Sven Regener, Frank Goosen, and Robert Schneider, as well as on adaptations by filmmakers such as Friedrich Wilhelm Murnau, Max Mack, Josef von Sternberg, Max W. Kimmich, Fred Zinnemann, Paul Wegener, Alexander Kluge, Volker Schlöndorff, Hans-Jürgen Pohland, Hendrik Handloegten, Michael Haneke, Christoph Stark, Karin Brandauer, Joseph Vilsmaier, Leander Haußmann, and Doris Dörrie.

Written by specialists from various fields, this edited volume is the first systematic investigation of the impact of imperialism on twentieth-century Britain. The contributors explore different aspects of Britain's imperial experience as the empire weathered the storms of the two world wars, was subsequently dismantled, and then apparently was gone. How widely was the empire's presence felt in British culture and society? What was the place of imperial questions in British party politics? Was Britain's status as a global power enhanced or underpinned by the existence of its empire? What was the relation of Britain's empire to national identities within the United Kingdom? The chapters range widely from social attitudes to empire and the place of the colonies in the public imagination to the implications of imperialism for demography, trade, party politics, and political culture, government and foreign policy, the churches and civil society, and the armed forces. The volume also addresses the fascinating yet complex question of how, after the formal end of empire, the colonial past has continued to impinge upon our post colonial present as contributors reflect upon the diverse ways in which the legacies of empire are interpreted and debated in Britain today
