Conflict Resolution In Africa:

Conflict Resolution in Africa Francis M. Deng, I. William Zartman, 2011-07-01 While dramatic changes are taking place on the international scene and among the major powers Africa continues to suffer from a multitude of violent conflicts. The toll of these conflicts is monumental in terms of war damage to productivity, scarce resources diverted to armaments and military organizations, and the resulting insecurity, displacement, and destruction. At the same time, Africans in response to internal demands as well as to international changes have begun to focus their attention and energies on these problems and are trying innovative ways to resolve differences by nonviolent means. The outcomes of these attempts have urgent and complex implications for the future of the continent with respect to human rights, principles of democracy, and economic development. In this book, African, European, and U.S. experts examine these important issues and the prospects for conflict management and resolution in Africa. They review the scholarship in resolution in light of international changes now taking place. Addressing the underlying internal causes of conflict, they question whether global events will promote peace or threaten to unleash even more conflict. The authors focus their analysis on the issues involved in African conflicts and examine the areas in need of the most dramatic changes. They offer specific recommendations for dealing with current problems but caution that unless policymakers confront the security situation in Africa, further destruction to national unity and political and economic stability is imminent. Case studies and themes for further long-term research are recommended. The Challenges of Conflict Resolution in Africa Rose Ngomba-Roth, 2008 The Cameroon-Nigerian border conflict over the Bakassi peninsula is a result of colonial negligence. Local interests and boundaries were disregarded when colonial powers were partitioning Africa. The Bakassi Peninsula's richness in natural resources, oil, gas, and fish is the main reason why Cameroon and Nigeria are at loggerheads over the region. Attempts at solving this conflict have failed, and even the ICJ ruling does not stand a better chance of settling this dispute if the interests of the local population are not considered. Conflict Resolution in Africa Francis Mading Deng, 1991 In this book, African, European, and U.S. experts analyze the issues involved in African conflicts and examine the areas in need of the most dramatic changes. They offer specific recommendations for dealing with current problems but caution that unless policymakers confront the security situation in Africa, further destruction to national unity and political and economic stability is imminent. Out of Conflict Gunnar M. Sørnbø, Peter C. J. Vale, 1997 Post Cold War Dilemmas Peace and Conflict in Africa David Francis, 2013-04-04 Nowhere in the world is the demand for peace more prominent and challenging than in Africa. From state collapse and anarchy in Somalia to protracted wars and rampant corruption in the Congo, from bloody civil wars and extreme poverty in Sierra Leone to humanitarian crisis and authoritarianism in Sudan, the continent is the focus of growing political and media attention. This book presents the first comprehensive overview of conflict and peace across the continent. Bringing together a range of leading academics from Africa and beyond, Peace and Conflict in Africa is an ideal introduction to key themes of conflict.

resolution peacebuilding security and development The book's stress on the importance of indigenous Africa approaches to creating peace makes it an innovative and exciting intervention in the field Peace and Conflict Resolution in Africa Ernest E. Uwazie, 2019-01-15 This publication is the product of the 25th Annual Africa and Diaspora Conference in 2016 organized by the Center for African Peace and Conflict Resolution at California State University Sacramento on the theme of Peace and Conflict Resolution in Africa 25 Years Later Lessons Best Practices and Opportunities It brings together reflections on both historical and contemporary or recurring conflicts in Africa especially on issues of ethno religious conflicts corruption land and leadership The chapters include case studies and some theoretical perspectives on the persistent search for the right size and scope of visioning and programming on peace and conflict resolution in Africa Understandably this collection of ideas thoughts and proposals will resonate with the field of Peace and Conflict Studies Arguably Africa is rising in the 21st century with declining violent conflicts and an increase in stable democracies and economies However there are still the significant challenges of extremism climate change poor governance ineffective leadership widening wealth gaps and weak institutions of moderation The essays collected here also document areas of progress in legitimizing democracy and conceptualizing social justice and suggest the need for building the next generation of peace leaders in Africa

Globalization and Conflict Resolution in Africa since the 20th Century Chigozie Paul Nnuriam, 2018-12-12 Essay from the year 2018 in the subject History Africa grade 4 42 University of Lagos language English abstract Globalization is a process of global economic cultural and political integration It is playing an important role and has brought new opportunities for African countries such as growth and improved productivity and living standards technological transfer conflict resolution etc Globalization is a complex and multidimensional phenomenon of contemporary society Therefore the areas of conflict and conflict resolution are also affected by this phenomenon Conflicts are part of man's existence this is because disagreements among peoples are natural The disagreement occurs in forms of revolution or war The continent of Africa has been highly susceptible to intra and inter state wars and conflicts Africa's track record of civil war conflict and political instability has with a big measure of justification earned it the idea of a continent at war against itself Thousands of Africans have been killed in civil wars conflicts and uprisings in the course of the past decade Meanwhile Africa to date has remained a victim of all economic and political reform agenda of the European dominated world but now consumed in what has come to be termed as globalization The Resolution of African Conflicts Alfred G. Nhema, Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, 2008 These two volumes clearly demonstrate the efforts by a wide range of African scholars to explain the roots routes regimes and resolution of African conflicts and how to rebuild post conflict societies They offer sober and serious analyses eschewing the sensationalism of the western media and the sophistry of some of the scholars in the global North for whom African conflicts are at worst a distraction and at best a confirmation of their pet racist and petty universalist theories From the introduction by Paul Tiyambe Zeleza This book offers analyses of a range of African conflicts and demonstrates that peace is too important

Dealing With Conflict in Africa J. Boulden,2003-12-04 Dealing with Conflict in Africa analyzes the role of the various organizations involved in conflict resolution in Africa The bulk of the chapters examine case studies of the major conflicts in Africa such as the Congo War For each case study the author looks at what responsibilities and tasks were taken on by different organizations the relationship between the organizations and seeks to determine which kind of organization is the most effective in working towards successful conflict resolution The contributors also examine the effectiveness of coalitions of states or eminent leaders to that of UN cooperation with regional organizations and what directions this cooperation should take in the future The contributors are an international group of scholars and consultants all of whom are well positioned to analyze these issues

Alternative Dispute Resolution and Peace-building in Africa Ernest E. Uwazie,2014-06-26 Conflicts in Africa have a great deal in common and striking parallels can be drawn between them at all levels Dynamics affecting the most complex war time conflicts civil unrest and other macro disputes are in play even in the smallest community conflicts The converse is also true lessons learned through community mediation for example in South Africa are applicable to the most complex and largest conflicts to be found on the continent Together the eleven chapters in this publication in addition to the prologue and epilogue suggest that a comprehensive assessment of efforts and investments in conflict resolution and peace studies in Africa since the mid 1990s is due in order to identify lessons and challenges as well as best practices Just as conflict dynamics are comparable between African conflicts whether large or small local or international so are alternative dispute resolution processes Effective approaches to resolving large scale conflicts and civil wars are effective at the community level and ineffectual techniques at the community level are just as likely to be counter productive in mediating international disputes While there may be some differences in mediating macro and micro conflicts such as the time required the need for negotiation teams and the complexities of agenda development or pre negotiations as far as the mediation process is concerned the differences are more like variations on a theme than real substantive dissimilarities This volume provides case studies of programs and policies and legislations on alternative dispute resolution and peace building and examines and proposes some new promising ideas for conflict prevention as well as maintenance of peace justice and security in Africa

Sovereignty as Responsibility Francis M. Deng,Sadikiel Kimaro,Terrence Lyons,2010-12-01 The authors assert that sovereignty can no longer be seen as a protection against interference but as a charge of responsibility where the state is accountable to both domestic and external constituencies In internal conflicts in Africa sovereign states have often failed to take responsibility for their own citizens welfare and for the humanitarian consequences of conflict leaving the victims with no assistance This book shows how that responsibility can be exercised by states over their own population and by other states in assistance to their fellow sovereigns Sovereignty as Responsibility presents a framework that should guide both national governments and the international community in discharging their respective responsibilities Broad principles are developed by examining identity as a potential source of conflict governance as a matter of managing conflict and economics as a policy field for deterring conflict Considering conflict management political stability economic development and social welfare as functions of governance the authors develop strategies guidelines and roles for its responsible exercise Some African governments such as South Africa in the 1990s and Ghana since 1980 have demonstrated impressive gains against these standards while others such as Rwanda Somalia Liberia Nigeria and Sudan have failed Opportunities for making sovereignty more responsible and improving the management of conflicts are examined at the regional and international levels The lessons from the mixed successes of regional conflict management actions such as the West African intervention in Liberia the East African mediation in Sudan and international efforts to urge talks to end the conflict in Angola indicate friends and neighbors outside the state in conflict have important roles to play in increasing sovereign responsibility Approaching conflict management from the perspective of the responsibilities of sovereign

Conflict Resolution in Africa: The Case of the Organisation of African Unity (OAU) Marvin Nii Ankrah, 2013-08 The objective of this research is to investigate the causes of conflict in Africa Further it discusses the role played by the Organization of African Unity OAU in ensuring political order during its period of existence The study employs content analysis of historical documents academic works internet sources and also current conflict situations in Africa as a baseline for its argument Mainly the study shows which major sources of tension need to be resolved to enjoy a sound stable peaceful political and economic environment in the new millennium

Ripe for Resolution I. William Zartman, 1985 What causes local conflict in Africa and the rest of the Third World What role if any can the U S play in helping to resolve these conflicts and when is the ripe moment for a response by an external power This new study written by the internationally renowned Africanist I William Zartman and undertaken as part of the Africa Project of the Council on Foreign Relations examines the causes and nature of African conflict and addresses the issue of how foreign powers can productively contribute to the management and resolution of such conflicts without resorting to the use of military force The book focuses on four case studies of local conflict and external response in the Western Sahara the Horn of Africa the Shaba province in Zaire and Namibia to assess various approaches to conflict management and offers guidelines for identifying the critical moment for effective external response Zartman also evaluates U S policy toward Third World conflict and spells out a policy toward Africa and the Third World in general that is based on preemptive treatment rather than military intervention resolution in Africa Understandably this collection of ideas thoughts and proposals will resonate with the field of Peace and Conflict Studies Arguably Africa is rising in the 21st century with declining violent conflicts and an increase in stable democracies and economies However there are still the significant challenges of extremism climate change poor governance ineffective leadership widening wealth gaps and weak institutions of moderation The essays collected here also document areas of progress in legitimizing democracy and conceptualizing social justice and suggest the need for building the next generation of peace leaders in Africa
