Contemporary Trends in Conflict and Communication Jessica Katz Jameson, Missy F. Hannah, 2022-07-18 Contemporary Trends in Conflict and Communication Technology and Social Media examines the myriad ways conflict communication occurs in mediated spaces whether through social media platforms such as Twitter Facebook and Instagram on private social enterprise spaces or through formal online dispute resolution ODR technologies We were experiencing the increase of conflict communication in hybrid spaces prior to the COVID 19 pandemic yet the global lockdown that shifted everyone to remote teaching learning and working heightened our attention to the impact of technology and social media on conflict dynamics While social media is often implicated in the spread of alternative facts false news and intimidation technology and new media also have the capacity to enhance and transform conflict communication in education workplace and socio political settings The contributors to this volume showcase cutting edge research that helps us make sense of the times we are living in and is organized in three sections 1 Using technology to promote dialogue and collaboration 2 Conflict communication on social media 3 Online conflict management in education training and practice This collection is relevant to scholars of conflict studies as it highlights key trends and areas for future research to improve conflict communication dialogue and collaboration and proposes ideas for using technology and social media to transform and connect rather than polarize and divide

Conflict resolution in staff coaching Dr. Mihaela Moreno, 2016-01-20 Examination Thesis from the year 2013 in the subject Leadership and Human Resources Miscellaneous grade 1 3 German Academy for Management Berlin language English abstract This work shows that conflicts should not always have a negative connotation since they might be necessary for a productive work in a team and for our personal development However conflicts can be beneficial for us and for our relations only if we are able to overcome them through professional communication and social competence In this thesis I show on the basis of Watzlawich s 1964 and Schulz von Thun s 2003 theoretical models of communication that conflicts should not be neglected or ignored but rather they should be thoroughly analyzed and solved in a well prepared conflict discussion The conflict discussion is regarded as a modern tool of human resources management and is crucial in contemporary conflict resolution of Ramsbotham Woodhouse Miall 2011 The paper contains a theoretical part where the concept of conflict and a model of communication are presented and an empirical part where I present a situation of conflict at work and how this situation could be solved The work is structured as follows In chapter 2 I define what a conflict is in the light of Buridan's concept and I classify conflicts in terms of Watzlawick 1964 Moreover this chapter also shows that conflicts are not only trouble makers but they are necessary for a personal and professional development Chapter 3 presents the well known model of communication proposed by Schultz von Thun 2003 2006 and possible communicative disorders Chapter 4 defines what staff coaching is and which types of employee employer discussions are recurrent in the practice Then based on Neuberger 2004 I will regard several instruments of staff coaching such as active listening questioning techniques and feedback Chapter 5 regards an empirical study of a conflict resolution that takes into account all the ingredients illustrated so far by the theoretical models The main purpose of this chapter is to show how an employee employer talk known in the personal management literature as staff coaching should be prepared and conducted by regarding the theoretical communicative models previously presented Chapter 6 concludes the work with a personal opinion about conflicts and their resolution
