Confucius The Great Digest The Unwobbling Pivot The Analects:

Confucius ,1969 Translation of Ta hseueh Chung yung and Lun yeu with original stone texts from rubbings of the first two works Confucius ,1969 Confucius ,1969 Confucius Confucius,1969 Great Digest, & Unwobbling Pivot Confucius,1968 Confucius: The Great Digest, The Unwobbling Pivot, The Analects ,1969 Ezra Pound's Confucian Translations Mary Paterson Cheadle,2026-02-16 Ezra Pound professed a belief in Confucianism from the early 1930s till the end of his life His interpretation of Confucianism however changed over time and those changes are reflected in the four translations of Confucian texts he produced between 1928 and 1954 Based on painstaking new research Ezra Pound s Confucian Translations for the first time traces the evolution of Pound s Confucianism during the historical and personal turmoil of this period Pound s Confucian translations are less correct philology than the re creation of works that he hoped would have a potent influence on the twentieth century West What Pound first admired in Confucianism was a respect for individuality simultaneous with a concern for social order From the late 1930s through the Second World War Pound developed a totalitarian Confucianism whose consummation would be a harmony of man earth and heaven After the defeat of the Axis powers in 1945 and Pound s arrest on charges of treason against the United States for his activities in Italy during the war his Confucianism reverted to an emphasis on verbal precision and the importance of individual integrity In addition to tracing the evolution of Pound s beliefs Ezra Pound s Confucian Translations elucidates the Confucian elements in The Cantos and suggests a reading of that epic from the point of view of Pound s Confucianism Ezra Pound s Confucian Translations will be crucial to students of Pound and will also be read by sinologists scholars of comparative literature and anyone studying translation Confucius: the Great Digest & the Unwobbling Pivot Ezra Pound,1968 American Modernist Poetry and the Chinese Encounter Z. Yuejun,S. Christie,2012-10-31 American Modernist Poetry and the Chinese Encounter offers a framework for understanding the variety of imagined encounters by eight different American poets with their imagined Chinese subject The method is historical and materialist insofar as the contributors to the volume read the claims of specific poems alongside the actual and tumultuous changes China faced between 1911 and 1979 Even where specific poems are found to be erroneous the contributors to the volume suggest that each of the poets attempted to engage their Chinese subject with a degree of commitment that presaged imaginatively China s subsequent dominance The poems stand as unique artifacts via proxy and in the English language for the rise of China in the American imagination The audience of the volume is international including the growing number of scholars and graduate students in Chinese universities working on American literature and comparative cultural studies as well as already established commentators and students in the west Confucius ,1951 The Pound Biennial Anderson Araujo,Ron Bush,2025-04-11 The Ezra Pound Studies Biennial claims a place as the flagship journal entirely devoted to Pound s work at a time when Pound studies represents one of the most active fields in modernist scholarship Elaborating on the life work and international reception of one of the prime movers of the modernist revolution in the arts and letters this inaugural volume joins an ever increasing number of studies examining Pound's letters prose poetry translations companions and international reception and taking the form among other things of critical essays and editions digital projects and monographs Building on this work the current volume features twelve high caliber contributions written by a diverse group of established and emerging Pound scholars Their subjects include the genesis of Pound's Pisan Cantos the poet's political and economic preoccupations his association with modernist women writers his fascination with typography and with the Italian Renaissance and his translations of Noh plays and French poetry

Confucius: the Great Digest & Unwobbling Pivot Ezra Pound, 1952

The Dao of Translation Douglas Robinson, 2015-06-12 The Dao of Translation sets up an East West dialogue on the nature of language and translation and specifically on the unknown forces that shape the act of translation To that end it mobilizes two radically different readings of the Daodejing formerly romanized as the Tao Te Ching the traditional mystical reading according to which the Dao is a mysterious force that cannot be known and a more recent reading put forward by Sinologists Roger T Ames and David L Hall to the effect that the Dao is simply the way things happen Key to Ames and Hall's reading is that what makes the Dao seem both powerful and mysterious is that it channels habit into action or what the author calls social ecologies or icoses The author puts Daoism and ancient Confucianism into dialogue with nineteenth century Western theorists of the sign Charles Sanders Peirce and Ferdinand de Saussure and their followers in order to develop an iconic understanding of the tensions between habit and surprise in the activity of translating The Dao of Translation will interest linguists and translation scholars This book will also engage researchers of ancient Chinese philosophy and provide Western scholars with a thought provoking cross examination of Eastern and Western perspectives
